RANDALL'S BILL.

He Furnishes a Synopsis to The Constitution.

MILLS REFUSES TO HEAR PROTESTS The Blair Bill—How North Carolins Feels—Flooding Congressmen With Letters For Seeds.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—[Special.]—Mr Randall said today that his tariff bill had been completed, and that he would make it pub-lic tomorrow. It is his purpose to present lic tomorrow. It is his purpose to present it in the house in the usual manner, and have it referred to the ways and means committee. To do this any day before Monday next will require unanimous consent, but this is usually given for the introduction of bills for reference, and he will probably introduce it tomor-row, as he had not today received it from the row, as he had not today received it from the printer. It was impossible to obtain a copy, but he gives the most of it as follows. He says:

"It repeals all internal revenue taxes on tobacco, which amounts to 30,000,000; all licensens, except wholesale liquor and brewers, making a reduction of $5,000,000; all taxes on the detailed internal control of the control o fruit distillations amounting to a reduction of $1,500,000. It reduces the whisky tax to fifty $1,500,000. It reduces the whisky tax to hely conts per gallon, amounting to $28,000,000 reduction, and puts alcohol for use in the arts on the free list, making an estimated reduction of $5,500,000. Thus the total reduction on internal revenue taxes reaches $70,000,000. It then reduces the tariff $15,000,000. Sugar is not touched, and the wool schedule is arranged in a manner that will prove satisfactory to the wool grower. In my opinion, the bill will prove satisfactory to a great number of demo-

Mr. Randall, however, did not say he thought he would be able to pass his bill. There is some talk tonight that a compromise may be effected between the Randall and Mills factions, and in this way succeed in passing some kind of a tariff reform measure.

MILLS GETS EXCLUSIVE.
"Premier" Mills has found, to his utter disgust, that he is not the true democratic leader, and that the democrats of the house will not allow themselves to be driven to adopt his free trade views. In fact, since his revenue bill has been made public, there has developed even more dissatisfaction among the democrats than was expressed against his tariff bill. Seeing this decided opposition, the ways and means committee decided this morning, against vigorous opposition, not to grant hear-ings on the bill, and only to receive written ings on the bill, and only to receive written protests and memorials, which will probably go to the waste basket. In other words "Premier" Mills seems determined to try and force his bill through without allowing those most faterested a hearing.

The combined tariff and revenue bill will probably be in the committee room until next reck, when it will be reported to the house

Representative Henderson, of North Carolina, stated that great dissatisfaction was expressed against it by the North Carolina peotee not having inserted a clause to repeal the this, and are quite indignant at its omission.

"What effect will this have upon the demo-cratic vote of your state?" he was asked.
"Well, I think our state will go democratic any way, as our people hate the republican party even more than the internal revenue laws. However, this will be a hard fought battle if the revenue laws are not considerably modified, but if the house passes a bill to re-peal the tax on tobacco and fruit brandies, which I believe they will do, the people will be reconciled for the present, and victory will

I have asked each and every member of the nue bill, but Mr. Candler is the only one who will express an opinion for the public. The opinion he has of the bill is that it is all right os far as it goes, but it don't go far enough. "The modification of the present system is a good move, and a great improve-ment over the present laws, but not as much as I would like to see. 1 am in favor of the total repeal of the internal revenue laws."

While writing of the internal revenue laws it will not be amiss to state many letters have while writing of the internal revenue laws it will not be amiss to state many letters have been recently received from Georgia by Senator Brown, Mr. Candler and other members of the delegation, which are to the effect that the majority of Georgians favor the total repeal of the interna revenue laws first, and a revision of the tariff afterwards, although the majority of their representatives in congress favor the revision of the tariff first and foremost.

Letters are being sent to postmasters all over the country asking them to forward lists of names to their senators and representatives in congress with a request for seeds and public documents. The lists are unusually long and coming in such wholesale fashion would, if honored, soon deplete the government document frooms and the entire agricultural department. The requests, too, are all prefaced by the statement that Secretary Judson, of the democratic committee, Washington, D. C., had instructed the postmaster to furnish the aforesaid lists. It is believed that there is no such person as Judson, but that it is a scheme on the part of certain railroads to get a maximum compensation for carrying the mails, and in order to do this an effort is being made to run up the weights of the matter carried to the highest extent possible.

The following is the circular:

P. 8.—Give names, postoffice, county and state in plain writing.

There are some members of congress who are inclined to the belief that it is a scheme gotten up by the republicans to bring worry and hard time to the democrats upon whom demands for seed are made, when they have no seeds to distribute. Within the past ten Gays there is hardly a southern member who has not received from ten to two hundred letters daily asking for seeds and public documents, when, in fact, almost every member has exhausted the allotment given him. Consequently, there mourning and gnashing of the teeth.

THE BLAIR BILL.

The house committee on education met this morning, and considered the Blair bill in connection with sixteen other similar bills. Nearly every member of the committee is opposed to the Blair bill, and but for the pressure brought to bear upon them for a report, it would be smothered. However, they are now trying to make a selection from the entire number of bills on which they can make a favorable report to the house. If a satisfactory bill is found among the number, they will report it as an amendment to that of the New Hampthire senator.

A Lively Discussion in the Senate Over the Library Building.

Washington, March 7.—In the senate, Mr. Beck gave notice that instead of replying to Mr. Sherman's speech of yesterday, this morning, as he had intended, he would do so next Tuesday on bill to substitute coin certificates for gold and silver certificates and he also notified the senator from Ohio that he would read extracts from the speeches of Senators Allison, Ingalls and others denouncing the silver dollar camonetization in terms compared with which his own words were mild.

The senate resumed consideration of the urgency deficiency bill, the question being on striking out the provision inserted by the house-requiring the public printer to enforce rigidly the eight hour law. The item was struck out. Yeas 32, nays 20, as follows: Yeas-Messrs. Aldrich, Allison, Bate, Beck, Blackburn, Brown, Call, Cockrell, Coke, Colquitt, Daniel, Farwell, George, Gibson, Gorman, Gray, Hale, Hampton, Harris, Hawley, Hiscock, Jones, of Arkansas, McPherson, Paddock, Payne, Ransom, Reagan, Saulsbury, Sawyer, Vance, Walthall, Wilson, of Iowa-32.

Nays-Messrs. Blair, Bowen, Chandler, Cullcom, Davis, Dolph, Frye, Hoar, Jones, of Nevada; Manderson, Mitchell, Palmer. Platt, Plumb, Sherman, Spooner, Escavart, Stockbridge, Teller, Turple-20.

An additional section was inserted in the bill containing a large number of items (generally small in amount) allowed by accounting officers of the treasury or by judgments of the court of claims since the dates covered in the bill as it came from the house.

By the amendment the total appropriation of the treasury or by judgments of the court of claims since the dates covered in the bill as it came from the house.

By the amendment the total appropriation for judgments of the court of claims is increased from $236,000 to $455,000.

Mr. Payne offered an amendment appropriating $60,000 for the pay of assistant custodians and janitors of public buildings all over the country for the current fiscal year, and made a statement in explanation and advocacy of it, showing reductions in pay and service at the New York and Cincinnati custom houses and other buildings for lack of appropriations. This amendment provoked a good deal of discussion, in which Mr. Faulkner stirred up Mr. Plumb by replying to some statements made by Messrs. Plumb and Dawes on February 10th in regard to extravagance on public buildings.

Mr. Plumb said his remarks on that occasion had been principally directed to the new library building in Washington. He read from the list of expenditures in connection with that building, the first item being $2,772 for watchmen, a larger sum than that spent for watchmen for the pension building which had been five years in the course of construction, and that for the building of which the basement plans were not yet drawn.

"That is not true," said Mr. Voorhees rising.

"It is true," Mr. Plumb rejoined.

"It is true," Mr. Plumb rejoined.

"It state it is not true," repeated Mr. Voorhees. "The plans for the basement have been ready for six months."

"I am informed," said Mr. Plumb, "that there is an advertisement in one of the city papers stating that specifications for the basement of that building are not complete and will not be till tomorrow."

"There is no such a statement or advertise-

"There is no such a statement or advertisement in any city paper," Mr. Vorhees as-ment in any city paper," Mr. Vorhees asserted.

"I am informed," said Mr. Plumb, "that when, a few days ago, the secretary of the interior came to consider the question of advertising for bids for the basement of that building he was informed that the plans and specifications for the basement were not yet drawn."

drawn."

In continuing to read the list of expenditures for the library building Mr. Plumb mentioned "a messenger at $600 a month."

"Six hundred dollars a month for a messenger?" queried Mr. Voorhees.

"I said $80," replied Plumb.

"No, you said $600," Mr. Voorhees insisted.

"Well, I wonder it was not $600 a month," said Plumb.

"And I wonder that you did not call it $6,000," was Mr. Voorhees's rejoinder.
Mr. Plumb continued to read the list of expenditures and criticize them, and after some time notified Mr. Voorhees that he had now in his head a paper containing the advantagement.

the senator from Kansas.

Mr. Voorhees referred to the high character Mr. Vcorhees referred to the high character of the men composing the library commission—one democrat and two republicans—namely, the secretary of the interior, Mr. Spofford, the librarian, and Mr. Clarke, capitol architect. These three men might safely, he thought, be entrusted with expenditure of public money. At the close of the discussion, a vote was taken on Mr. Payne's amendment and it was not agreed to—yeas 24, nays 24.

The bill having been reported from the committee of the whole, Mr. Payne renewed his amendment in the senate and it was again rejected—yeas 25, nays 30.

amendment in the senate and it was again rejected-yeas 25, nays 30.

The pension bill went over till tomorrow, with the understanding that after the morning business it would be taken up and discussed under the five minute rule and a final vote taken before adjournment.

After executive session, the senate adjourned.

Washington, March 7.—In the house, Mr.

Belmont, of New York, from the committee on foreign affairs, reported the following preamble and resolution:

Whereas, It is said that there are pending questions of the disputed boundary between the republic of Venezuela and the colony of British Guinea; and, whereas, it is alleged that the British government has made claim on behalf of said colony to a considerable portion of valuable territory now and heretofore in possession of said republic of Venezuela, and has refused to submit to arbitration said question of disputed boundary;

Resolved, That the president be requested to send to the house, if not against public interest, all doouments and correspondonce, if any there are, between our government and the governments of Great Britain and Venezuela, or either of them, relating to the question of the disputed boundary between the said British colony and Venezuela.

Mr. Outhwaite, of Ohio, from the committee on Pacific railroads, reported favorably the bill extending the time for the payment of the government debt by subsidized roads comprised within the Union Pacific system. Placed on the house calendar. (This is known as the "Outhwaite bill.")

The committee on commerce reported the bill authorizing the establishment of a number of life-saving stations, among them one at Lynn Haven inlet, Va., and two between Ocranoke inlet and Cape Lookout, N. C. Referred to the committee of the whole.

In the morning hour, the house passed a bill for a public building at Sedalia, Mo. It then took bills reported from the Indian committee, and passed, without amendment, the bill ratifying and confirming an agreement with the Grosventer, Piegan, Blackfeet and River Crow Indians in Montana.

Under this agreement, the Indians relinquish a large part of their present reservations, and in lieu accept smaller and clearly defined reservations, on the payment of a stipulated sum of money, and altoment of land in severalty under certain conditions. The money is not to be paid directly to the Indians, but is to be expended in advanc

The next bill considered was that to divide the great Sioux Indian reservation into separate smaller reservations. This was amended and passed. It also strictly defines the limits of the reservations, provides for the allotments of lands in severalty and expenditures of certain sums annually in the advancement of Indians in education, husbandry, cattle-raising and other conditions of civilization. Both bills passed open to settlement the lands relinquished by the Indians under their terms.

The house adjourned.

PRINTERS JUMP FROM A FIFTH STORY Burning of the Springfield, Mass., Evening Union Office—Employee Cut Off From Any Fscape.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., March 7 .- The new office of the Evening Union burned out about four o'clock this afternoon, and the blaze was attended with the most sickening horror ever witnessed in this city, six of the employes meeting a terrible death, most of them jump-ing from the fifth story and being crushed into a shapeless mass below. Six others were badly injured. The fire was first discovered in the mailing room, and clouds of smoke were pour-ing out of the lower story windows, and be-fore fifty souls on the upper floor were aware of their danger, the flames shot up an old elevator in the rear, cutting off escape by the stairway, and most of the employes who es-caped foundtheir way to the ground by the way of a roofin the rear. Some were cut off in the composing room and there is still a terrible suspense, as several fell back into the flames. The employes who from escape in the rear, and had to face the horrible alternative of burning to death or

The fire department responded promptly, and ladders were put to the fourth story, and the sight of rescue so near seemed to madden the suffering groups at two windows, who dropped in succession to the sidewalk below. Six fell in this way. Some of them were forced off, and some madly leaping. The crowd groaned and turned their heads away as they whirled through the air.

Four compositors suffered bad fractures of bones and serious burns. Two, named Donohue and Ensworth, are probably fatally hurt. It is thought that the fire started among lumber in a closet on the ground floor. The flames were drawn up the elevator well and spread through the composing room. There were more than thirty compositors, men and women, on the fifth floor. There was no fire escape. Dense, black smoke issued from the windows in clouds, and by the time the fire department arrived the top windows were filled with the poor, despairing humantienings, who did not seem at first to realize their dreadful position. The crowd underneath cfied to them to have courage, and on no account to try to jump or climb down, and they at first seemed disposed to obey, but so slow were the ladders in being erected that a panic seized the victims.

The scene as the people began to jump or fall from the blazing windows was horrible. A shrick broke from the crowd as each of the victims fell into the street below. There was a great clapping of hands when a woman was seen slowly descending a ladder. The noise of the crowd was hushed as the wounded were carried through to an ambulance. The only available means for quenching the flames was an old watering can. There were no force pumps or fire buckets of any sort. A large canvas sheet was stretched over the sidewalk. Three men jumped on this, but broke through and fell out on the pavement. A woman also fell through the canvas and landed on the sidewalk insensible.

Mrs. Farley would have been saved if she had not become excited and broke away from those who were endeavoring to induce her to try an avenue of escape w

And I wonder that you did not call it $6,000," was Mr. Voorhees's rejoinder.

Mr. Plumb continued to read the list of expenditures and criticize them, and after some time notified Mr. Voorhees that he had now in his hands a paper containing the advertisement to which he had referred; and that advertisement said that the basement specifications could be seen tomorrow.

Mr. Voorhees suggested that the advertisement did not say that the specifications were not prepared.

Mr. Plumb—No, but still that is significant. Mr. Voorhees—Everything is significant to the senator from Kansas.

FIRE IN MACON.

The East Tennessee Shops Discovered to Be on Fire.

Macon, Ga., March 7.—[Special.]—Tonight the alarm of fire was rung from box 26, by Officer Baily. As the bells began to ring the clock in the courthouse tower began striking ten. The two gongs sounding at the same time mixed up things so that it was impossible to tell the number, but the large crowds that gathered in the street saw a very bright glare in the southern part of the city, and hastened in that direction. It was found that the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia shops were a mass of flames. The fire department arrived promptly, and rendered very valuable service, both in outing the fire and saving neighboring property.

The works consist of one large shed, oil house, engine house and several small shanties. The shed was full of wood to be used in locomotives, all of which was destroyed, which had been recently put there. In the oil house there was about $600 worth of oil, all of which was destroyed. There were three new locomotives in the engine house, but these were all pushed out on the side track before the fire reached them. There was destroyed in this building two pair of new trucks, which cost one hundred and eighty dollars each. A large quantity of machinery and tools were all ruined, nothing being saved from the building. There was $10,000 insurance on the tools with Cobb, Cabiness & Cobb, and $25,000 on the building, machinery and rolling stock with Turpin, Ogden & Co.

Engineers on Other Roads Refuse to Handle
Burlington Cars.

Minnsapolis, Minn., March 7,—The Burlington and Northern strike is on. All the brotherhood engineers and firemen left their cabs at 10 o'clock. The effect is not yet observable, because the road does not send any passenger train ont till 4:15 p. m. At that time the officials claim that the Chicago and St. Louis express will start as usual, while the brotherhood claim that the road's freight business was very large before the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy strike, but it is now nothing more than local. The strike affects 100 men.

Chief Asthys eteted approximation of the strike affects 100 men.

Chief Arthur stated unreservedly to an Associated Press representative about noon today that (to use Arthur's exactness,) there was "serious danger that the strike of the engineers and firemen would now spread widely."

"It is impossible to appease our men," he said, "when they know that railroad companies all over the country are giving aid to the Burlington. We are continually in receipt of telegrams showing that the companies are rendering this assistance, and it is not in my power, or the power of any other man, to restrain them, unless such things are stopped." The Burlington strike is involving other roads at the stockyards. This morning five Lake Shore engineers refused to take a train of Burlington cars from Englewood to Sixteenth street, declaring they would quit before they would haul anything bearing the "Q" label. The cars consequently remain at Englewood. A Wabash switchman refused this morning to receive Burlington cars, which were brought to the yards at Root street. The switchmen employed by the Union stockyards and Transit company, which has charge of all switching at the yards, also decided today that they would handle no Burlington cars. The company has as yet taken no action in the matter. Twenty-five employees of the "Q." at the yards, whose business it is to care for all stock arriving over the Burlington, were discharged today, as no stock is arriving, and consequently there is nothing for them to do. The full support of the entire Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen has been pledged to their members on any and all roads throughout the United States, who deem it necessary to strike, and formally decide to do so, in order to uphold their brethren on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy. This information was obtained this evening on the best of authority and was verified through another source. It can also be stated upon authority that the general meetings of the green and the surface a Denver, Col., March 7.—The strike on the Burlington today threatens to extend to the engineers and firemen in the Denver and Rio-Grande freight yards. From a RioGrande official it was learned that several loads of freight consigned by the Burlington to Rio Grande for transfer to the west, arrived in the yards this morning. Orders were issued to have the cars switched, but the engineer on the switch engine refused to touch them. Another engine was sent after them with the same result. The cars were abandoned, and the men say that they will quit before they will move them.

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 7.—Another party of engineers from the Philadelphia and Reading railroad company, passed through Pittsburg this morning en route to Chicago, to accept positions on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad company, passed through Pittsburg this morning en route to Chicago, to accept positions on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad. The leader of the party stated that the men in his charge, all being Knights of Labor, had held off from accepting the overtures of "Q" people until the last moment, expecting Chief Arthur to make good his word and compel the brotherhood men to cease work on the Reading. Had he done so the knights would not have gone west, but would have remained in Philadelphia.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 7.—Indications tonight are that a strike on the Kansas City, Fort Scott and Gulf system is inevitable. In fact, it is given out that all engineers and firemen will abandon their engines at or before 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The Burlington road today notified all roads entering here of its readiness to resume all business as usual, and followed this announcement by pushing twenty-five freight cars from the Hannibal division into the Gulf yards. The Gulf road has announced its willingness to handle freight, and unless it reconsiders this determination the men will suriely go out.

EAGLE PASS, Tex., March 7.—[Special.]—By order of District Judge Malins, of the state of Coahiula, Mex., Captain Francesco Manax, Lieutenant Miguel Cabrera, the second sergeant, and the lieutenant's orderly, all of the Third Mexican cavairy, have been arrested and placed in jail, charged with participating in the late attempt to kidnap a Mexican deserter in this town, and with participating in a subsequent attack upon the sheriff of this (Maverick) county. Captain Manaz, while the shooting was in progress, remained upon the other side of the river, but is believed to have been the originator of the scheme. The other parties were all actively concerned. Mr. Allen, the United States consul at Piedras Negras, has been especially active in the matter. He has received telegrams from Secretary Bayard, instructing him to make thorough investigation of the affair, and forward a deposition corroborating his reports.

THEY GOT AWAY. The Mexican Authorities Trying to Break Up a Gang of Cutthroats.

a Gang of Cutthreats.

LAREDO, Tex., March 7.—[Special.]—For months past a gang of horse thleves and cutthreats have had their rendezvous in the northwestern part of this county, near Palafox, and near the Mexican town of El Paso, across the river. They were led by Domciano Martinez and Eugene Garcia. The former is wanted in Mexico on three counts for murder, and on this side for numerous cases of horse stealing that have been proved upon him. The latter is wanted here for murder, and in Mexico is known as a daring smuggler. Rewards have been offered for them in hopes of some of the gang giving away their whereabouts, but without avail. The Mexican authorities got wind of their whereabouts last Monday, and raided a small mescal ranch near El Paso, capturing seven of the gang, but Martinez and Garcia both escaped. One of the rangers was wounded in the skirmish, and one of the gang of desperadoes is reported as having been killed, Pursuit of the leaders proved useless, as they were better mounted than the officers and made good their escape.

A Young Girl Disinheated by Her Adopted Father.

San Francisco, Cal., March 7.—[Special.] A young girl's contest for an estate of $1.00.00 will come up in the probate court here tomorrow. The facts in the case are as romantized the incidents in a movel.

Carolina C. Sankey, 18 years of age, contests the will of her adopted father, Samuel Sankey, who disinherited her before his death. She was the daughter of a Pennsylvania farmer, and when six years old, her parents died. Samuel Sankey, who was eccentric and childish, and who was on a visit to his relatives, was greatly pleased with the child, and wanted to adopt her, but the relatives objected.

Then he tried to abducther, but was caught.

wanted to adopt her, but the relatives objected.

Then he tried to abducther, but was caught. Finally he secured letters of adoption, and came out to his home with little Carrie. He gave her a good education, but he was extremely penurious, and at last grow so harsh in his treatment that Carrie had him arrested for beating her. He was convicted and fined $40. At this time his wife died, and he became still more brutal to Carrie, so that she left his house, and went to live with a neighbor. Sankey then went east and died in Illinois, at the home of his brother. Just prior to his death, he made a will, disinheiriting Carrie, and in a codicil executed on his death bed, he left $40 to her to buy a grave stone.

The relatives of Sankey in Illinois, Michigan and Pennsylvania wrote letters to Carrie, urging her not to contest the will, but to accept her father's share, which would be one ninth of the estate. Her guardian, however, began a contest to probate of the will in Chicago, and was successful. Then the relatives carried the fight to Pennsylvania, where they claimed the adoption was illegal, because Sankey was not a resident of the state. On this ground they were knocked out, and the fight was transferred to this city, with the chances decidedly in favor of the girl.

COLORED CHRISTIANS.

Some of the Brethren Disagree With a Nash ville Pastor.

Nashville, Tenn., March 7.—[Special.]—
The official board of elders of the Gay-street Christian church filed a bill in the chancery court today against Preston Taylor, colored, pastor of said church. Complainants charge that during defendant's pastorate he has so changed the long-established mode of worship in this church that grievous dissensions have arisen among the members. Among these changes was one to have the organ played during the administration of the Lord's supper. This innovation brought about great dissatisfaction, and a number of the members withdrew from the church on account of this and other innovations. On the 1st of October complainants gave the defendant written notice that his services would not be needed longer than January 1st, 1888. Defendant immediately began preaching against the well-established authority of the official elders of the church, and so influenced a portion of the congregation that when his term had expired he had brought about great confusion and disturbance among the members of the church, and it became apparent that he intended to create a division in the congregation. Complainant, in order to remedy matters, called a meeting of the congregation of Jancomplainant, in order to remedy natters, called a meeting of the cougregation for January 3rd. Defendant appeared at this meeting with his supporters, and succeeded in breaking it up without the transaction of any business after much trouble had ensued. Chancellor Allison granted a temporary injunction, restraining detendant from occupying the pulpit of the said church or performing the duties of pastor.

Every day southern investments are attracting more and more attention at the north. Northern capitalists have been recently investing largely in pine lands in Alatama and other parts of the south. It would be hard to find anywhere a finer timbered country than the southern half of deepigs and Alabama. It is not at all nullkely that the United States will, before many years, become a great ship-building country. When that time comes, the south, with its convenient timber and iron, will be the center of the industry.

The Henry County Times has started on its econd volume. Editor Hale has made a good paper out of it.

The Griffin News is of the opinion that "every editor who is not in favor of the tariff reduction bill should be mashed into pulp, and thereby placed on the free list." As against this the opinion of the Covington Star may be quoted thus: "If the people had a chance they would abolish the internal revenue laws before next Saturday night. Congressmen might do well to make a note of this fact."

The Waynesboro Citizen says of a recent meeting of colored men in that county to disass the propriety of investing in the stock of the new railroad:

This is a move in the right direction, and, though the means of our colored triends may be limited, yet not only does every little help, but any one who subscribes shows by that very set that he is interested in the permanent welfare of the county and state. This railroad is needed, and it will add much towards developing the permanent pro-perity of the county. It will add greatly to the interest and convenience of many of the citizens, and will be the means of furnishing just so much more work for the laboring man. Even though one should have no ambition to accumulate property, yet every enterprise of this kind throws wider open the gates that enter upon the domain of labor, and increases the value of the poor man and consequently makes his work more sought after.

They Decide to be Fully Represented in the Exhibition Car.

SPARTA. Ga., March 7.—[Special.]—The Hancock Farmers club held its monthly meeting at the fair ground. There was quite a good attendance, including a number of laddes. President W. J. Northen made a very interesting address on the immigration move inaugurated by the Central road. The club was highly entertained and enthused, and our people will enter into this plan heartily. We now speak for a place in the car designed to carry the state exhibit to the north and west, and we will send specimens of all of our produce of every kind. The county will also be written up and a pamphlet issued, which will besides containing a description of our soil, climate and productions and statistics of yields, advertisements of land in different portions of the county, including, prices of the same, these pamphlets to be sent along with our exhibit and distributed wherever that goes. The county decided to exhibit at the next state fair.

Mr. John R. Lewis made a report on the experimental farm under his supervision. The club directed, by an overwhelming majority vote, that certain prizes, won last fall at the trotting races, and about which there has been such dispute, should be paid.

At 11 o'clock, Mr. Northen took the train for Warrenton, to meet the agricultural club there, and returned in the afternoon. He reports that Warren county agrees also to exhibit at the next state fair, and he hopes also that it will send, if not a county, at least individual exhibits, to our Hancock fair next fall. He expresses himself as highly delighted with the thorough, practical and business like manner in which the Warren county club discusses all agricultural questions that come up before it. The Hancock farmers have gone to work this season with more hope and with brighter prospects than they have had for a long, long while.

Decreasing the Acreage and Increasing the Compost Heap.

Lumpkin, March 7.—[Special.]—The farmers of this county seem to have awakened to the idea that the less land they cultivate, and the more they fertilize, the more money they will realize. All over the county are seen large compost heaps, and a good many farmers are making at home nearly all the fertilizers they expect to use, while the majority are hauling out in large quantities the commercial guano, which is flooding the whole country. Your correspondent has talked to a good many planters as to the acerage they expect to plant, hauling out in large quantities the commercial guano, which is flooding the whole country. Your correspondent has talked to a good many planters as to the acerage they expect to plant, and the amount of fertilizers they will use, and finds a growing disposition to reduce the acreage from the ancestral forty acres to the mule, to twenty-five and thirty, and to increase the guano from one hundred pounds to the acre, to two and three hundred, and some as high as four hundred on their entire farm. While they may not be able to make it pay for the first year or two, yet the general opinion seems to be that it will pay in the "long run." Corn is being planted, and the ground put in order for the cotton crop. While our people have been rather slow in taking hold of the idea of terracing their lands, it seems to be growing rapidly now, and lands which have about become worthless are now being made valuable.

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 7.— [Special.]—Chatham county's new facal year began March 1st. For the year ending February 29th the receipts from all sources, including the cash balance on hand March 1st, 1888, were $215,836.40. This was an increase of nearly $20,000 over the previous year. This increase came largely from the sale of securities held by the county. The proceeds were applied to the new jail account. The total cost of the new jail will be about $63,000, a few hundred dollars less than the fund. The actual increase in current expenses for the year was $3,636.93.

From evidence gathered today by a Constitution reporter, the matter assumes the following shape: Upon the reception of the notice that General Secretary Litchman would deliver an address before the Knights of Labor, here at the Academy of Music, a very prominent member and office-holder of the Ocmulgee Knights of Labor club, made a public and forcible statement, in which he declared that at this address of Hon. Arrest of a Nice Young Man for Robbing a Railroad.

Albary, Ga., March 7.— Special J—Will Lofton, white, engineer, and Robert Matthews, colored, train land, were arrested here early this morning by Sheriff Hurst, of Thomas county, and Detective Moivatt, of the Savannah, Florida and Western railway, charged with belonging to the gang which has been robbing the freight cars of that railroad. Lofton is a handsome young man, of good family. For a number of years he has been a fireman in the employ of the road, and has just been promoted to the position of engineer. He was well thought of. Their houses in Thomasville were searched, and a quantity of dry goods, tobacco and eigars found therein. They were carried to Thomasville for their preliminary trial. Eight arrests have now been made. Vigorous efforts are being made by the officers of the road to break up this robbery, which has been going on for some time.

THE SUPPLY EXHAUSTED. A Scarcity of Guano in Oglethorpe-Political Notes.

Lexinoton, Gs., March 7.—[Special.]—
Tuesday last was the first Tuesday in the month, and a good crowd came to town, though there was no land for sale and no property. Our streets were blocked with guano wagons, and the eager buyers soon exhausted the supply, numerous wagons going home without any. Our merchants cannot supply the demand. All the factories have exhausted their stock, and our merchants will not be able to furnish much more. The demand is far in excess of past years.

The politicians could be seen on the corners, discussing politics, and they have ushered into the field for the state senate Colonel Whitson G. Johnson, who has, after much solicitation, picked up the gauntlet and will make the fight.

THE CHAMBERS TRAGEDY An Old Gwinnett County Story Which Culminates in Texas.

BREMOND, Tex., March 4, 1888.—Editors Constitution: Being a subscriber to the WERKLY CONSTITUTION, I saw in one of the last issues a statement to the effect that nearly fifty years ago a man by the name of Thomas J. Chambers killed a man in Gwin-Thomas J. Chambers killed a man in Gwin-nett county, Ga., ran away, came to Texas and was a soldier in the Texas revolution, where he served under the name of Thomas Jones, and that if his heirs could be found and could prove that he was the same man as the Thomas J. Chambers who was hung in Geor-gia for the murder of Kemp, they could re-cover lands in Texas granted to him for his services as a soldier.

Services as a soldier.

I knew two of Thomas J. Chambers's sons in Georgia, and one of them lived near where I lived, a lwhile, in this state. This one was killed in Texas, and I think I can find his heirs. I am engaged in the land business, and the son who was killed in this state told me that his father came to Texas and had land given son who was killed in this state told me that his father came to Texas and had land given him by the state, and offered to employ me to recover it, but as he did not tell me that his father went under an assumed name, I could not find any land that I thought belonged to his father's heirs. I now think that he did not know the fact.

Now I write this to request you to be so kind as to inform me from whom you received the statement referred to, so that I may correspond with the party. I am certain that I can find some of the heirs of Thomas J. Chambers in Texas. and I want to get, if possible, the proof of the facts stated in The Constitution. If you cannot do this please give me the name. If you cannot do this, please give me the name of one or more old citizens in Gwinnett county who knew Chambers and his history. Very respectfully, T. lived at Stanhope, about a mile from the works. Myer came from Philadelphia recently.

The explosion gave rise to a great cloud of smoke, which covered the scene. When it lifted it disclosed a great rent in the earth where the building had been. The ground for several acres around was strewn with the fragments of the building, the timbers of which were splintered as fine as matches, and with minute shreds of human flesh. About 300 pounds of this flesh was picked up, but there were only two pieces of any considerable size found. One was a head and shoulder picked up 300 feet away, but so mutilated that it was unrecognizable. The other was a leg. From the foot of this leg the skin was completely removed, pieces of clothing and fragments of flesh were picked out of the trees in the vicinity. Immediately after the explesion the air was filled with floating fragments of the cartridge paper, some of which were wafted as far as Drakesville, two miles away.

THE SUPREME COURT.

Decisions Rendered Saturday March, 3, 1888.

REPORTED BY J. H. LUMPKIN, ESQ Hon. L. E. Bleckley, Chief Justice, and Hons. M. H. Blandford and T. J. Simmons, Associate; Justices.

Jefferson vs. State. Rape, from Doughertys Criminal Law. Practice in Superior Court. Witness. (Before Judge Bower.)
Simmons, J.—1. As this case will be sent back for a new trial on other grounds, no opinion is expressed as to whether or not the verdict is contrary to the evidence, further than to say that this appears te be a close case.

2. While this court will not readily interfere with the presiding judge in controlling the practice in his court as to the conduct of counsel and as to their asking leading questions, yot in passing upon the admissibility of evidence or upon whether questions are leading or not, he should not pass upon the credibility of witnesses; and where counsel asked questions which the court deemed leading, it was error for him to say, "Don't lead the witness. They will tell anything you want them to say. Counsel will not be allowed to persist in leading the witness. These ignorant witnesses can be led to say anything in the world you want them to say, if they are interested in the party. Shrewd counsel can frame these questions so as to lead the witness to say anything they want them to say."

ments. Sales. Receivers. Attachments. (Before Judge Bower.)
Blandford, J.-1. Where a bill was filed by certain creditors. alleging that their debtor was insolvent and that certain other creditors had obtained from him an assignment or bill of sale of his property, which was attacked as fraudulent and void, and a receiver was prayed for it was error. On the heaving of the arrive. Iraudulent and void, and a receiver was prayed for, it was error, on the hearing of the application for the appointment of a receiver at chambers, to appoint a receiver for the benefit of the creditors who held the assignment or bill of sale attacked as fraudulent, with instructions to collect and turn over the assets to them. The necessity of a receiver, if any, was to hold the fund to await the result of the litigation.

2. On such a hearing at chambers, it was error to order that an attachment which had been taken out by other creditors under $3297 of the code, should be brought into the hitigation and merged in and tried with the bill, retaining all liens it then had on the property of the debtor outside of the bill of sale. This matter was not brought into the litigation by the bill, and the attaching creditors, being parties, could be heard at the proper time.

Tift & Co. vs. Dunn. Claim, from Dougher-ty. Mortgages, Title. Debtor and Credi-tor. Notice. Record. (Before Judge

tor. Notice. Record. (Before Judge B wer.)
Blandford J.—In 1881 a conveyance of personalty to secure a debt, with bond to reconvey upon payment, under the provisions of $1969 of the code, was not required to be recorded, but everybody was chargeable with notice thereof, and one who took from the debtor a mortgage on the property did so at his peril. The act contemplated that the grantor might remain in possession of the property. Where such a conveyance was made with bond to reconvey the payment, the title passed to the grantee; and where subsequently the debtor gave to a firm a mortgage on the same property, and still later surrendersequently the debtor gave to a firm a mortgage on the same property, and still later surrendered to the holder of the conveyance the bond to reconvey, and the grantee thereupon conveyed to another, the title acquired by such party was not subject to the mortgage, although the mortgages had no knowledge, at the time of taking their mortgage, of the prior conveyance, the transaction between this debtor and his grantee being conceded to have been fair and houest. Judgment affirmed.

Walters vs. Comer & Co. Foreclosure of mortgage, from Dougherty. Cotton Futures. Contracts. Brokers. Promissory Notes. Mortgages. Verdict. (Before Judge Bower.) Simmons, J.—This case is controlled by the Simmons, J.—This case is controlled by the ruing in the case of the National Bank of Augusta vs. Cunningham, 75 Ga. 306, in which it was held that, where a broker is privy to a wagering contract, and brings the parties together for the very purpose of entering into the illegal agreement, he is particeps criminis, and cannot recover for services or losses incurred by himself in forwarding the tracsaction. Speculations in cotton futures are such illegal contracts; and where a note and mortgage were given partly for the losses incurred therein, a verdict finding in favor of the mortgage for the full amount thereof was contrary to law and the evidence.

Judgment reversed. L. Arnheim; C. B. Wooten, for plaintiff in D. H. Pope, for defendants.

Pope, executor, vs. Hartwell et al. Equity, from Dougherty. Executions. Levy and Sale. Title. Interest and Usary, Guardian and Ward. Practice in Supreme Court. (Before Judge Bower.)

Simmons, J.—1. Where an execution was levied on land, and the debtor, being unable to pay the money, induced another to bid off the property, and made a verbal agreement that he would repay the amount of the purchase money with an agreed amount as interest, and that the purchaser should thereupon convey the property to him, the title obtained by the purchaser at the sheriff's sale was not tainted with usury and void. even though the interest specified in the independent agreement with the purchaser was usurious.

2. Where the purchaser at the sheriff's sale-desired his money, and the debtor being unable to pay him, a guardian paid the amount, took a deed from such original purchaser, and made a like agreement to convey to the debtor upon certain terms (which agreement was at first in parel, but was subsequently reduced to writing), the title so obtained by the guardian was not void, a though the amount to be paid under the contrac, may have been usurious.

3. On a bill filed by the next friend of the sole legatee of the ward, who had died, he would be entitled to recover the amount paid by the guardian for the property, with interest thereon at seven per cent., deducting the payments which had been made (most of them under the name of rent) at the time when they were made, with a lien on the property for the amount of such recovery.

4. The amount found in this case by the jury was too large. The correct amount of 521.01, making the aggregate $1,036.23. If the complainant will write off the recovery in excess of that amount the judgment is affirmed; ctherwise, reversed.

Judgment amrmed on terms.

R. Hobbs; C. B. Wooten, for defendants.

Stevens vs. Central Railroad and Banking Company of Georgia. Case, from Macon. Verdict. Charge of Court. New trial. Evidence. Witness. (Before Judge Fort.) Simmons, J.—1. The verdict in this case is fully sustained by the evidence.

2. The entire charge was fair and impartial, and fully covered the points on which it was claimed in the fourth, fifth and sixth grounds of the motion for a new trial that the court failed to charge.

3. If the testimony was conflicting on material points in the case, and the counsel deemed it important that the rule as to reconciling the testimony, or as to determining the credibility of witnesses, should be given in charge, the attention of the court should have been called thereto, or his omission to charge on that subject will not cause a new trial. 76 Gis. 3.

(a) The same is true as to a failure to charge in respect to impeaching testimony.

4. Where in a suit for damages caused by a fall, the plaintiff claimed that spinal concussion or some similar effect had resulted from the fall, it was admissible to show that, on the afternoon previous to the injury, he had exchanged photographs with a negro girl and had made an assignation with her for the next day, and that on the morning of the day after the fall he walked four or five miles in the direction where she lived. Such evidence tended to throw light on his physical condition after the injury.

5. Such evidence was admissible, not only to throw light on the particular injury to the plaintiff's spine, but also on his general physical condition after he was injured, and there was no error in refusing to limit the effect of it in the charge to the former point.

Judgment affirmeds

Mayor etc. of Americus vs. Mitchell. Injunction, from Sumter. Municipal Corporations. Americus. Nuisance. Damages. Equity. (Before Judge Richard H. Clark.) Simmons, J.-1. Under the charter and ordinances of the city of Americus, the mayor and council, upon the recommondation of the board of health, have full power in a summary manner to abate a nuisance. It is for them to determine, upon the report of the board of health, whether a mill-pond is a nuisance which affects the health of the community; and if so, they may abate it in a summary which affects the health of the community; and if so, they may abate it in a summary manner. But when the municipal authorities proceed thus summarily, they do so at their peril, and if the owner can establish the fact that the pond was not a nuisance, he may recover from the municipality the damages which he has sustained.

2. Where the municipal authorities condemned a mill-pond as a nuisance, and the owner of the pond filed a bill to enjoin them from destroying it, denying that it was a nuisance; but before the bill was filed or the temporary restraining order granted, the dam was washed away by flood, and the pond destroyed, it was error to grant an injunction.

Gladden, sheriff, vs. Cobb et al. Attachment against sheriff, from Calloun. Res Adjudicata. Sheriffs. (Before Judge Bower.) Simmons J.—All the points made in this record were decided when the case was formerly before this court (73 Ga. 236.) A rule nisi having been issued, calling on the sheriff to show cause why he should not pay the original judgment against him and the damages assessed by the court, an answer which set out no fact in addition to what had been set up before judgment, except that the plaintiffs had proved their debt in the bankrupt court, a transcript of the bankrupt proceedings being set forth, which fact could have been ascertained and pleaded on the original trial by the use of the proper diligence, was not sufficient to authorize the judgment to be set aside and the case reopened; and there was no error in sustaining a demurrer thereto.

TEORGIA, FULTON COUNTY—TO THE SUPER.

Jor court of sald county: The petition of Dr.

C. Bacon and H. P. Smart, of Chatham county, Ga., and Martin F. Amorous, of Fulton county, shows that they desire for themselves, their associates successors and assigns to be incorporated and made a body corporate and politic under the name of "The Georgia Lumber company." with all the powers specified by the code of Georgia of 1882, section 1679, and such others herein asked for.

The particular business of said corporation and its purpose is the manufacture and dealing in lumber and naval stores, to manufacture, buy, sell and deal in lumber, timber, doors, sashes, bifinds and all kinds of material for building; to deal in, buy, sell and own naval stores, to buy, lease own and operate steam saw mills, planing mills, sash and blind factories and turpentine stills, at all such places as they may see fit; to construct, buy, lease, own and opcrate car works cuitable for the construction of passenger, box fia, coal and all other kinds of railroad, street and any other kinds of cars, and for the rebuilding and repairing of the same, or any of them at all such places as they may see fit; to buy, lease, own and sell lands, timber and timber lands, to buy and own stock, tools, implements and all other necessary appliances and apputtenences and rebuilding and repairing of the same, or any or, them at all such places as they may see fit; to buy, lease, own and sell lands, timber and timber lands, to buy and own stock, tools, implements and all o'her necessary appliances and appurtenances and, generally, to do all such matters and things as are incident or common to the business of manufacturing timber, naval stores, operating saw mills, car work, turpentine stills, etc., and dealing in lumber, naval stores, car supplies, land, timber and timber lands; and to buy, lease and own all such property, real and personal, as may be necessary in the conduct and course of the business aforesaid, and tho same to sell, convey, let, mortgage and dispose of in any manner and at any-time it may deem proper. The principal office and place of business of said corporation will be in Fulton county, said corporation, however, will have authority to carry on its business and own any of the property above mentioned at such other place or places outside said county as it may determine.

The capital stock of said corporation will be fifty thousand ($50,000) dollars, divided into shares of one hundred ($100) each, fifty per ceut of which has already been paid in. Power is here asked to increase the same from time to time to a total amount not to exceed three hundred thousand ($50,000) dollars, and power is sought for said corporation by by-laws to fix a lien in its favor on the stock of each stock holder for debts owed by him to it and provide therein for the enforcement thereof.

Petitioners pray to be incorporated for twenty (20) years, with privileges of renewal as often as the law provided and be published once a week for one m. nth in the Atlanta Evening Journal, a public Gazette of said county, and that petitioners be then incorporated by order of this court with all the powers, privileges and in the manner above set forth.

The Ways and Means Committee vs. Certain Editors.

The democratic members of the ways and means committee, in their internal revenue bill, have made a complete reply to the editors and orators who have been maintaining, in the face of the facts, that the exist-ng excise laws are objectionable to no one so far as injustice and oppression are concerned, except to those who violate them. If this were the case, why should the ways and means committee find it either desirable or necessary to modify them? Why should the minimum punishment be abolished, thus leaving fines and imprisonments to the discretion of the judges? Why should the committee find it necessary to modify the law relating to the issuing of warrants? Or change the place of trial? Or provide for the appointment of commissioners in various parts of the districts? Or prevent the destruction of property? Or give the judges power to provide for the ing from close confinement? If the law is not what THE CONSTITUTION has charged time and time again, why is any modification necessary? As a matter of fact, every change-every modificationmade by the committee is an admission that THE CONSTITUTION was right.

mfort and well-being of prisoners suffer-

As a commentary on the able editorial arguments of the esteemed Macon Telegraph, the bill presented by the democratic members is worthy of perusal.

SENATOR INGALLS has climbed on John Sherman's platform of sectionalism, and it is just about big enough for the two of them. In thus aiding to keep the democratic party in power, the senator is doing the country the best service that he is capable of.

WE believe that the success of the democratic party is quite as important as anything connected with the tariff.

Driven to Her Death by Detectives.

The other day a beautiful woman committed suicide in a Chicago hotel. She-left behind her a long letter, addressed to a respectable firm of lawyers, in New York, in which she stated that she had been driven to desperation by the persecution of the detectives who were on her track.

Subsequent inquiry brought to light an interesting and disgraceful state of affairs. The woman's husband was wealthy. He had grown tired of his wife, and desired a divorce. A separation took place, and the husband went to Europe, leaving several private detectives to watch his wife, with instructions to secure sufficient evidence to enable him to obtain a divorce.

The detectives knew that they would be well paid if they pleased their master. They annoyed the helpless woman in every possible way. Slanderous stories were started, and every effort was made to bring her into compromising situations. Sick at heart, and frightened by the persistency of her persecutors, the victim fled from place to place, only to find that she was pursued, and that every step she took told against her. Finally, in her despair, she sought safety and rest in death.

It now turns out that this unfortunate was an innocent woman, and a good wife, but the opinion is expressed that if she had lived, the detectives would have worked up a black looking case against her. This private detective business is overworked in some parts of the country. A detective should be an officer of the law. It is a dangerous thing to allow an irresponsible peron to assume the functions of a policeman selling himself to the highest bidder, and doing anything that his employer requires, under the pretense that he is serving the ends of justice. The Chicago case shows what such a system of unauthorized persecution naturally leads to. It is about time to have the private detective system thoroughly overhauled and properly regulated.

A VERY important question remains unanswered. How can the democratic party hope to carry New York, New Jersey Connecticut on a free trade platform?

THE Money Devil is again haunting Editor Watterson's troubled dreams.

An Obstacle in the Way of Tariff Reduction

The so-called tariff reformers, when they ermit themselves to be hauled down ou of the upper elements, deny with some degree of bitterness that they are free-traders. In the face of the facts, however, such-denials amount to very little, though it is undoubtedly true that a great many people are are in favor of the Watterson plan of tariff reform because they are ignorant of the purposes of that able statesman.

But there is no sort of excuse for their ignorance. There is no reason why any sensible person in this country should not know that the internal revenue system is an obstacle in the way of tariff reduction. The Wattersonians understand this perfectly and that is one of the main reasons why they are opposed to the repeal of the system.

They are free-traders-Mr. Watterson is now engaged in editing an out-and-out freetrade journal-and they know that if the internal revenue system goes unrepealed that the only method of reducing the tariff without adding to the surplus is to enlarge the free list.

They know, moreover, that if even the whisky tax is left unrepealed, there can be no material reduction of the tariff. The on why this is so is a very simple one, ught to be apparent to any one whose pparatus is in working order. To ariff is to increase importations, se of importations means an revenue flowing into the > a strain on the reason mall boy to follow this n. With the whisky avoid. The surplus is too large now, and if only the expenses of the government are met it will remain too large, for there is now no proposition before the country to dispose of the present surplus. The Mills tariff bill is valuable only as showing the truth of what we have stated. Mr. Mills has been politer to the free list than to the necessaries of life. Wool is an agricultural product, and lumber is on that line; both are on the free list-and, if we remember correctly, even beeswax, which is product of the farm, is on the free list.

The necessaries of life are touched very lightly. The reductions that are made are bulletined as reductions of the surplus, but wherever the tariff is reduced, there will be an increase of the revenue and an addition to the surplus. This is the inevitable result of the internal revenue taxes. Wipe these out and tariff reduction would become a necessity. With these taxes in operation it will be impossible to reduce the tariff without adding to the surplus. The only remedy for the surplus, under existing conditions, is the enlargement of the free list beyond any precedent in American history.

This the free-traders know full well. EDITOR WATTERSON, who appears to be n a state of chronic inflammation marks: "The painted harlot whistles to keep her courage up as she bawls in the market place." This shows a remarkable state of things; but he versatility that enables a person to bawl and whistle at the same time is not to be sneezed at. A Peculiar Case.

Judge Gildersleeve, a New York judge, had a puzzling case before him, the other day. The testimony showed that the defendant, John Farrell, had assaulted a respectable citizen, and robbed him of his watch. The jury brought in a verdict of guilty, and as it was grand larceny there seemed to be no hope for the defendant, the lowest penalty being five years imprison-

But the judge regarded the case as an extraordinary one. It was in evidence that Farrell's character was unblemished, and that a moment before committing the crime he had parted with his sweetheart at her door, saying to her that he was going to punish some loungers on the corner for the nsulting words they used when the couple passed them. When Farrell went to the men he was overcome by a spasm of excitement, and after his arrest he declared that he was unconscious of what had occurred. The judge weighed these points, and it struck him that there was no motive for the robbery. The young man's employers stated that they had the fullest confidence in him, and would take him back at an increased salary.

After considering all these matters, Judge Gildersleeve boldly decided to suspend sentence, and in the course of his remarks he said:

night except upon the theory that, being intoxi-cated for about the first time in your life, and under apprehension that these young men whom you passed while with the lady made some insulting re-mark, you became excited, and to retaliate and re-sent the insult you attacked these people, which resulted in you getting hold of this watch. There is no other reasonable view it seems to me upon the whole of this case. You were almost at the door of this young lady whom you loved and with whom you had kept company for a year and a half. You you had kept company for a year and a half. You needed no money and you had no temptation to rob. For these reasons I shall, take the extraordinary course if suspending judgment, although you have been convicted of a very grave crime, the lowest imprisonment for which is five years in state prison. The interests of justice do not require that I should send you to state prison for five years for this offense, though you are legally guilty. On the theory that possibly you were in such a condition you could not form any intent and the entire absence of preef of any motive, you might be acsence of proof of any motive, you might be ac-quitted; but a party is presumed to intend the con-sequences of his act, and even on that theory it is doubtful if you would be acquitted. Keep sober nd honest and you will outlive this misfortune, a I so regard it.

Very likely this was the best as well as nost merciful course to take, but what becomes of the well-settled legal principle that drunkenness is no excuse for crime and that it aggravates the offense? There is no way out of it, except to take the position that there are exceptions to all general rules, and that the Farrell case is one of the exceptions. Undoubtedly it would have been cruel and unjust, under the circumstances, to pronounce the sentence prescribed by the law. And yet the precedent opens a field for puzzling conjectures and STATESMAN MILLS has not only failed to harmonize the tariff differences existing in the democratic party, but he has failed to catch the free trade republicans. The Chicago Tribune, a rabid free trade republican organ, denounces the bill. It is no wonder that Statesman Mills feels tired.

SENATOR INGALLS appears to think that Mr. Grady is a national issue. But the senator will discover before the campaign is over that the real national issue is the corrupt practices of the republican party.

Manner of working it.

Adobe houses are made of unburnt brick. They are in common use in Texus, Mexico, Central and South America. The bricks are made of loamy earth, containing about two-thirds fine saud and one-third clayey dust. This mess is mixed with water and then pressed into molds of the required size. Taken from the molds the adobes are placed on edge on the ground and left to harden in the sun. In a few days they are hard, compact bricks, without a crack. They are laid with mud mortar, and at the completion of every two feet of the without a crack. They are laid with mud mortar, and at the completion of every two feet of the structure, an interval of one week is allowed for drying, and a similar space of time between the completion of the walls and the putting on of the roof. The houses are usually one story high, and the inside is plastered before the roof is put on. The duration of these houses is much greater than would be supposed, as there are a number now in existence which have stood for more than a century.

The Moon and the Weather.

The Moon and the Weather.

EDITORS CONSTITUTION: Is the weather affected by the moon in any degree? Is there any foundation for the idea that seed should be planted in the new of the moon? What relation has the moon to the earth, anyway?

Superstitions concerning the effect of the moon on the earth are very common, but are wholly without foundation in reality. The relation of the moon to the earth is simply that of a satellite, whose attraction has an important influence on the earth's motion in its orbit, and on the shifting level of its oceans, causing the tides. It might be supposed that if the moon can attract the water upon the surface of the earth she can also attract its atmosphere, face of the earth she can also attract its atmosphere and thus, through movement of the air currents have a perceptible influence upon the weather But investigation shows that as the aerial mass is in no way confined in equaties of gulfs, its tide caused by external attraction must be slight. So far as can be indicated by the barometer it is too small to be worth reckoning, being less than .001 of an inch.
The idea that the position of the new moon concerns the weather is utterly without reason. The nearly horizontal creecent which is said to foretell a dry month is always seen when the plane of the moon's orbit is so situated with regard to the earth as to carry the moon past conjunction above the sun, and the vertical crescent—which is called a wet moon because it pours the water out—appears when the luminary passes conjunction below the sun. In neither case can there be anything to affect the moisture of the atmosphere. Scientists say that the moon has no effect upon the planting of seed.

EDITORS CONSTITUTION: If you will kindly allow me the space, I would be glad to say a word about the proposed Wagnerian festival that is spok-en of in your "Walks and Taiks" column this morn-ing. The idea of giving a Wagnerian festival in Atlanta is absurdly impracticable and ridiculous. No one probably knows this better than Mr. Sternberg. The immortal works of the great Wagnet No one propagity knows this better tham Mr. Sternberg. The immortal works of the great Wagner have not been attempted in this country outside of New York city, and they had to import singers from Germany to be able to present them there. Now, think of Atlanta trying to give a Wagnerian festival with local talent—a thing that could not be done in the city of New York; doesn't it strike you as the height of folly? It was only in the issue of the Musical Courier of February 1st, that Mr. Sternberg says over his own signature, that there is nothing in Atlanta to lead. Where has he found the wonderful soloists that are willing to mutilate the great master's works. There is no one more enthusiastically in favor of a music festival than the writer, but we want something that is practicable, and something that could be given with some degree of credit. The Atlanta musicians are not a set of hoodiums, they certainly see through this shan attempt at a Wagnerian festival. The attraction at our previous festival was Levy, the cornet player. But for him, the festival would not have paid its advertising bill. Just think for one moment, from Levy to Wagner at one jump. If Mr. Sternberg is sinere in his desire to elevate the musical taste in Atlanta, let him give his drawingroom concerts more frequent, and not charge admission, or at least, such high admission fee that very few will attend. One concert like Madam Vor der Hoya's, a short while ago, will do more good than a dozen where one dollar admission is charged, and certainly more good than a hundred attempts at a Wagnerian festival.

Lazy Bill handed down the parrot cage, which was deposited in a box, from where the occu-pant of the cage could obtain a good view of his surdings. The wagon was cleared of its freight and Tom stepped upon the wagon and undid the fastenings of the goat, but inadvertently he let the repe by which the goat had been tied slip through is fingers, and the goat made a dash for liberty Lazy Bill was standing with his back toward the goat, talking to Collector Miller. His legs were spread out, and between them the goat saw his only . Unfortunately for Bill the goat was too large to pass through the narrow space with-out touching, and the result was terrible. The goat reached the ground, but Bill's feet slipped from un-der him and he sat down in the bottom of the vagon with a force that started the horses forward.

"Ha! ha!" croaked the parrot, in glee.
"Blame the blamed thing!" yelled Bill, throwing his hat at the parrot and slipping from the wagon to give chase to the goat.

He cornered the goat after a run which brought the perspiration out of his forehead, but the goat was not yet caught; he suddenly lowered his head and gave Bill an upper cut that caused him to gasp and clutch his vest convulsively.

The parrot shricked with delight, but his tune was soon changed when the horns of the goat became entangled in his cage and bird and beast rolled on the wharf together.

"Now, you've got him, Bill?" cried Miller, but Bill did not want him, for, picking up his hat, he mounted to his seat and prepared to watgh the scene from a safe place. Tom disentangled the cage from the horns, and Miller picked up the cage, whereat the parrot, who had evidently formed several acquaintances in the forecastle coming are ound his tongue.

I. WILKES BOOTH'S SON.

The Story is Doubtful, But There Seems to be Something in It—A Remarkable Tale—A Secret Marriage.

A Pittsburg Leader reporter called on Mr. Josheph Arthur, the author of the "Still Alarm," and asked him to confirm a story which had come to the reporter's ears from Baltimore, which sought to establish the fact that the relationship of father and son existed between John; Wilkes Booth and Harry by the reporter that the story would be published, he admitted that a gentleman in Bal-timore, between whom and Wilkes Booth a a remarkable letter in Wilkes Booth's handwriting, which, if genuine, leaves little doubt that Harry Lacy, of "A Still Alarm," is a legitimate son of Booth. The gentleman in uestion invited Mr. Arthur to his rooms, and opened some wine, and, under its influence, he told Mr. Arthur the following remarkable story:
"Wilkes Booth married clandestinely a beautiful society girl, the daughter of a scion of Maryland's aristocracy. Booth's erratic na-ture and unpopular profession were alike dis-tasteful to the parents and relatives of the girl, who, through their daughter, exacted a proise from Booth never to reveal the marriage This promise he religiously kept from even his own family, who to this day know nothing of the marriage, a fact known to none but Booth's friend, who was present at the nuptials, and for the first time told the story to Mr. Arthur. A baby was born, and the mother died shortly afterward. The aristocratic family, anxious to sever all connection with Booth, declined to receive the child. Booth then placed the infant in charge of a lady of high social standing in Baltimore But, her health failing, she was forced to ask Booth to place the boy in other hands. He then wrote the letter to his friend, which was by him read to Mr. Arthur and fully identified as Booth's handwriting. The letter was sent from Chicago, Booth then being on a starring tour. It implored his friend to take charge of his boy baby, which the friend agreed to During the time the boy remained with the friend, Booth paid handsomely and made treuent visits to Baltimore, often jumping hundreds of miles to remain a single day with the child, upon whom he lavished a wealth of affection. The boy when old enough was placed in school by the friend, and at the time of Booth's death was about ten years of age, but unconscious of the real relationship between himself and Lincoln's slayer. This had been kept from him faithfully by the friend, who told the boy (who often wondered at Booth's devoted attentions) that Booth admired him because he was the son of his good friend. That boy at the age of fifteen ran away, and that boy is no one more than Harry Lacy. Why, compare the two men, their nervous, fiery temperament, the wild expression of the eyes, the shape of the two heads, covered with the same short chestnut colored curls, the refined mold of the features, the pallid hue of the skin, the lithe figure, quick gait, the voices. Let any person who knew Booth talk to Lacy five utes and he will be convinced that what I tell is a verity. Ask Lacy for the history of his past life, and mark his reticence on the sub-

They Escaped the Danites. From the St. Paul Globe

The death of Mrs. Briggs is not in itself a matter of much public comment, but it brings once more to light the story of a miraculous escape of a couple from the notorious Brigham Young and his territory in the days when capture meant certain death at the hands of the eve dreaded Danites, who were then in the full zenith of their power. Then it was that murder was no crime in the eyes of the zeaious apostles of Mor lom, and it needed but a significant nod fro nes of earth. There was no retaliatory vengeance and the story of the escape of Mr. and Mrs. Briggs becomes more romantic when the facts in regard to the affair become fully known, says the Denver

It was just twenty-nine years ago when the coup made their first appearance in Denver. They came in the usual way in those days—in teams—and theis story at first was hardly credited. Years before imbued with the Mormon principles, they had gone to Utah and became willing subjects to Brigham Young, who was at that time in the height of his power. Mr. Briggs became a chosen disciple and an elder in the Mormon church, and bid fair to be-come a fixture in the territory. But he remained true to his first wife, and never would consent to avail himself of the Mormon privileges by inc the number of his "better-halfs."

When the trouble between Briggs and the church arose is not exactly known, although some say that his disinclination to be a much-married man aroused the suspicions of his brother elders, who seemed to think he was not doing the right thing in not practicing what he preached. Another story has it that the amorous Brigham Young wasslight ly inclined to fall in leve with Mrs. Briggs, and as i vas a well-known fact that anything the wanted he was sure to have sooner or later, Brigg concluded to shake Utah and the Mormons, and concluded to shake Utah and the Mormons, and thus save his wife from becoming famous, and probably from having her hair pulled by the score or more of other Mrs. Youngs.

Both stories are probable, but which is the strict truth is not known. Suffice it that the Briggs's arrived in Denver in the fall of 1858, and Briggs was nick named "Governor" Briggs, after the governor of Massachusetts. It was not long afterward that "Governor" Briggs passed to the home of his fathers, and left the wife he had snatched from Mormon hands a widow.

Mrs. Briggs went into mourning for the good old man and was much bereaved at his demise, especially after the troubles they had gone through in the wild, woolly west together. Five years ago, however, she brightened up, looked young again, and astonished her friends by remarrying, at the ripe old age of 90 years, a miner by the name of 0. E. The communication which appeared in yeserday's Constitution, calling attention to a Birningham Herald dispatch concerning the National colored exposition, created a sift among the col-ored people of the city yesterday. Dickens and Pickwick in Court. LONDON, March 5.—[Copyrighted, 1888, by James Gordon Bennett,]—Dickens, Pickwick and Marquis Leuville made today a queer mixture of nomenclature in the law case tried before Baron Huddleston and a special jury. The condition of affairs on the Dayton, For Wayne and Chicago road are growing worse and worse almost every hour, and this evening it looks as if the road would be "tied up" before another twenty-four hours passed by. Since the shop hands quut on Friday and Saturday many of the section hands have also stopped work. The road from Maselman's to Wellston, a distance of thirty-six miles, is laid with light rails, and fall the ment is laid; and it has part of the road it will absolutely make it dark gerous to pass over. On some of the sections comprised in this distance the men have quit, and on some only the foreman and one or: wo men are working. The engineers and trainmen say that if section men are not kept on the road to keep it in repair they will refuse to go over it, as they do not propose to imperfil their lives.

Roadmaster King went down over the road this morning to pacify the men and attempt to indust those who had already quit to return te work. His efforts seemed to meet with but little success, however, as the men had been promised their mown, from time to time and had been disappointed, and now they are growing desperted.

The latest report received at the main office here from Roadmaster King was that all the section hands had resolved to cease work after tomorrow. If they cannot be induced to continue work it is quite probable that operations on the road will be suspended entirely until money is raised somehow to pay the men off. A general "lie-up" of the road is looked for if money is not fortheoming in the next twenty-four hours.

The Big Rate War.

The western rate war continues spreading in new directions. Up to today all of the roads between Chicago and the Missouri river had charged the full tariff rates on transcontinental freight and confined the cuts to local business, but today two of the content the rates on first-class freight were reduced twenty-eight cents a hundred, and other classes in proportion. A local cut was also made on salt from Chicago to Kansas City, which was reduced two first classes in proportion. When the Ulipsia railwood and when the Illinois railroad and warehouse come missioners promulgated their tariffs on state railroad freights, an agreement was reached among the interested Chicago roads that tariffs should be adopted making these the minimum rates to be charged. The Wabash claims that the Chicago and Altor ignored this, and sent out tariffs five per cent below the agreed rates, and in consequence the Wabash oday issued new schedules five per cent below the Alton. This again opens the war between those two lines, and other cuts are in order.

A Man Assaulted Last Night-A Residence Burglarized-A Horse Stolen-Shooting at a Thief.

Frank Evans, a young man well known about town, entered the city prison late yesterday afternoon, out of breath and terribly

The young man had just had a lively expe Evans lives near the East Tennessee and about dark started home. He was walk ing, and went out Pryor street. When near the crossing of Richardson, two men ap-proached him, and while one asked him for his money, the other grabbed for his throat. Mr. Evans struck one of the men over the head with a small walking stick, and then wheeling around, ran away. The two men pursued him for two or three blocks. The gentleman's statement induced officers to investigate the matter, but no one could be found in the neighborhood answering the de-scription, neither could anyone be found who had heard the racket.

Three Tips and Out.

Charley Aiken who made his name famous by having it placed upon the black list during that law's brief existence, went to the stockade yesterday because he could not pay a fine of ten dollars. When the law allowing a fine of ten dollars. When the law allowing a man three drunks and then stockade was substituted for the black list law, Aiken, like the rest of the black list gang, started with a clean slate. A few days after the law passed, however, Aiken turned up drunk and was fined. Again yesterday morning he came up drunk the second time and when Judge Anderson finished the case a fine of ten dollars had been entered against the defendant. Aiken was mable to pay the fine and was sent to the unable to pay the fine and was sent to the stockade. He is now, under the law, entitled to one more drunk and with that drunk a sentence to the stockade.

The case against Dr. Sam Green in policecourt was not heard yesterday morning, the officers not being ready for trial. Patrolman Looney, who was detailed to investigate the matter, has not yet been able to find one of his most important witnesses. When the case is booked against Dr. Green one will be entered against Willie Burton, the, woman in whose house the racket occurred. As there are several Dr. Greens in Atlanta it may be well to state that the one against whem the charge is made once worked about printing offices.

Larceny From the House. Captain Russell, the special officer at the Kimball, walked into the city prison yesterday. In one hand he had a legal looking paper, and in the other a negro's wrist. The paper was a warrant charging Dock Scanlin with larceny after trust, and the negro whom he had by the wrist was Dock Scanlin. The negro it appears had been pilfering some of the rooms at the Kimball, and the warrant was the result.

He is Charged With Using a Stick. J. E. Adkins, a young white man, whose ome is at No. 282 Marietta street, was arrest-home is at No. 282 Marietta street, was arrest-ed yesterday by Patrolman West. Adkins is charged with disorderly conduct. The com-plainants assert that the accused went to his home yesterday morning, and, after quarreling with his mother, who is well advanced in years, sprang upon her and gave her a terrible beating. The case will be heard in police He is Charged With Robbery.

Columbus Gartrell, a young negro man, entered police headquarters early yesterday and stating that he had been robbed, asked for the arrest of the party. Gartrell gave the name of the negro whom he charged with the robbery as John Russell, and described him. The description was posted at police headquarters, and during the day Russell was brought in by Patrolmen English and Norman.

The House Burglarized. The House Burglarized.

Night before last a burglar entered J. E. Holmes's residence, 192 Hood street, and succeeded in getting away with a small gold watch and chain, a purse containing about fifteen dollars, a pair of breeches and a large family Bible. The thief entered the house by forcing a window, and stole the articles from a room in which Mr. and Mrs. Holmes were showing.

She Will be Tried Today Susie Dunning, the girl with a fair and a fair face, who went to Springfield, Chico, and married Green Jackson, the negro, is still confined in the city prison. The woman will be arraigned in police court this morning for trial, and will be asked to plead to the charge of disorderly and immoral conduct.

Night before last C. W. Moore, living on Calhoun street, was awakened by a noise at a window, and in a short time discovered a negro man trying to enter. Mr. Moore arose to get his pistol, but the negro left. The gentleman, however, secured his pistol and reached the door in time to get one shot at the burglar as he moved away.

Bob Williams, a strong, square-shouldered negro, was given a cell in the city prison yes-terday by Sergeant White. Williams is charged with assault with intent to murder. The com-plainant is Charlie Burke, who, in the warrant, avers that Williams made a murderous assault upon him with a heavy stick. He Wants His Horse. James Ford, a planter living near Jonesboro seached the city yesterday afternoon searching for a horse which was stolen from him Tuesday night. On that night a thief broke the lock upon the stable door and led out a fine gray horse which he saddled and bridled. A description of the horse was left at police headquarters.

He is Still Missing.

Forbes, the traveling man who worked Mr. Maxwell, of the Markham house, for one hundred dollars, has not been heard of so far. Chief of Police Connolly yesterday sent several messages to various points describing the man and asking for his arrest.

Three Suspects.
Tom Fuss, John Withers and Neal Wilson three suspicious characters, were given cells in the city prison yesterday. afternoon. DRAW THE LINE ON WOMEN.

The Atlanta Philosophic Society Says None of the Fair Sex Need Apply. Grave and reverend they may be, and their meetings may, as a rule, be feasts of reason, but the Atlanta philosophers sometimes discuss matters not on the programme, and some of these discussions are said to be quite lively.

"Women" was the topic of one of these discussions

At a recent meeting of the society some member more gallant than the others suggested that it would be well to admit women to membership. The proposition was made in all earnestness, but the gallant member doubtless wished afterward that he had not, for it did less wished afterward that he had not, for it did not meet with favor. Immediately the proposition was attacked, and it is said that so violent was the attack that Dr. Armstrong, the president of the society, turned upon the leaders and greeted their ar-guments with "Shame! Shame!" But the able president was in the minority and the proposition to admit women was by an almost unanimous vote rejected.

When near the crossing of Richardson, two men approached him, and while one asked him for his money, the other grabbed for his throat. Mr. Evans struck one of the men over the head with a small walking stick, and then wheeling around, ran away. The two men pursued him for two or three blocks. The gentleman's statement induced officers to investigate the matter, but no one could be found in the neighborhood answering the description, neither could anyone be found who had heard the racket.

Three Tips and Out.

Charley Aiken who made his name famous by having it placed upon the black list during that law's brief existence, went to the stockade yesterday because he could not pay a fine of ten dollars. When the law allowing a man three drunks and then stockade was substituted for the black list law, Aiken, like the rest of the black list gang, started with a clean slate. A few days after the law passed, however, Aiken turned up drunk and was fined. Again yesterday morning he came up drunk the second time and when Judge Anderson finished the case a fine of ten dollars had been entered against the defendant. Aiken was unable to pay the fine and was sent to the stockade. He is now, under the law, entitled to one more drunk and with that drunk a sentence to the stockade. Three Tips and Out.

The case against Dr. Sam Green in police court was not heard yesterday morning, the officers not being ready for trial. Patrolman Looney, who was detailed to investigate the matter, has not yet been able to find one of his most important witnesses. When the case is booked against Dr. Green one will be entered against Willie Burton, the, woman in whose house the racket occurred. As there are several Dr. Greens in Atlanta it may be well to state that the one against whom the charge is made once worked about printing offices. The Case Continued.

Larceny From the House. Larceny From the House.
Captain Russell, the special officer at the Kimball, walked into the city prison yesterday. In one hand he had a legal looking paper, and in the other a negro's wrist. The paper was a warrant charging Dock Scanlin with larceny after trust, and the negro whom he had by the wrist was Dock Scanlin. The negro it appears had been pilfering some of the rooms at the Kimball, and the warrant was the result.

He is Charged With Using a Stick. J. E. Adkins, a young white man, whose home is at No. 282 Marietta street, was arrest-ed vesterday by Patrolman West. Adkins is charged with disorderly conduct. The com-plainants assert that the accused went to his home yesterday morning, and, after quarreling with his mother, who is well advanced in years, sprang upon her and gave her a terrible beating. The case will be heard in police

He is Charged With Robbery. . Columbus Gartrell, a young negro man, entered police headquarters early yesterday and stating that he had been robbed, asked for the arrest of the party. Gartrell gave the name of the negro whom he charged with the robbery as John Russell, and described him. The description was posted at police headquarters, and during the day Russell was brought in by Patrolmen English and Norman.

Shot at a Burglar.

Night before last C. W. Moore, living on Calhoun street, was awakened by a noise at a window, and in a short time discovered a negro man trying to enter. Mr. Moore arose to get his pistol, but the negro left. The gentleman, however, secured his pistol and reached the door in time to get one shot at the burglar as he moved away.

Wanted to Kill Him.

Bob Williams, a strong, square-shouldered negro, was given a cell in the city prison yesterday by Sergeant White. Williams is charged with assault with intent to murder. The complainant is Charlie Burke, who, in the warrant, avers that Williams made a murderous assault upon him with a heavy stick.

James Ford, a planter living near Jonesboro which he saddled and bridled. A description of the horse was left at police headquarters.

He is Still Missing. Forbes, the traveling man who worked Mr. Maxwell, of the Markham house, for one hundred dollars, has not been heard of so far. Chief of Police Connolly yesterday sent several messages to various points describing the man and asking for his arrest.

Grave and reverend they may be, and their meetings may, as a rule, be feasts of reason, but the Atlanta philosophers sometimes discuss matters not on the programme, and some of these discussions are said to be quite lively.

"Women" was the topic of one of these discussions.

At a recent meeting of the society some member more gallant than the others suggested that it would be well to admit women to membership. The proposition was made in all earnestness, but the gallant member doubtless wished afterward that he had not, for it did not meet with favor. Immediately the proposition was attacked, and it is said that so violent was the attack that Dr. Armstrong, the president of the society, turned upon the leaders and greeted their arguments with "Shame! Shame!"

But the able president was in the minority and the proposition to admit women was by an almost unanimous vote rejected.

More About the Runaway.

Mrs. Mary Simmons, mother of the young lady who was supposed to have left her home a few days ago, desires the public to read the following card which she has prepared:

Myself and family know Mrs. John Martin to be an honorable, estimable lady, having lived neighbors to her for years, and have always known her as such, and deprecate all publications connecting her with the cause of our little girl's leaving home, and believe that her treatment of the child was only prompted by kindness. THINGS ABOUT TOWN.

The gentlemen and ladies having in charge the fair for the Knights of the Golden Eagle, report gratifying progress. The fair will be held at Concordia hall beginning the second Monday in April and will last a week. Already many donations have been received and the arrangements are about completed.

Tonight there will be a meeting at the music parlors of the Atlanta Female institute of those musicians who will take part in the Wagner festival projected by Professor Sternberg.

There were two small fires yesterday. At 7 o'clock in the morning a slight blaze on the roof of a negro restaurant, at 318 Marietta street, called out the department. One hour later there was a small fire at the residence of Dr. W. C. Robertson, on Whitehall street. In both cases the damage was slight.

At a late hour last night Mrs. Wilson, the wife of Mr. W. R. Wilson, the well known railway mail agent, died at the family residence on Spring street. Mrs. Wilson had been ill about eleven weeks. She leaves a husband and five small children.

The meeting of the W. C. T. U., at 3 p. m. this evening, will be more interesting than usual. The Bible reading will be an especial feature. The state convention will meet here during the last week in May, and every lady in the city interested in the cause, it is hoped, will be out this evening. Mrs. Mary Higgins, wife of Mr. J. M. Higgins, the popular engineer of the Georgia radroad, died at the family residence on Moore street Tuesday, March 6. Mrs. Higgins has been an invalid for several years. She was a good Christian woman and a faithful wife, and will be missed by her many friends, who regret to learn of her death.

THE PROHIBITIONISTS DIFFER

About the Decision of the Supreme Court

A recent article in The Constitution regarding a general effort on the part of the prohibitionists all over the United States to test the validity of all liquor licenses aroused a great deal of interest in the city.

The article in question stated that this action was encouraged by the decision of the supreme court of the United States in the Kansas case, wherein it is asserted that the people cannot barter away the morals and health of the republic. It is hoped by the prohibitionists that this can be interpreted to effect the constitutionality of the license laws. The result of a test case soon to be tried in Indianapolis will be watched with interest all over the country. But, however general the prohibition movement may be, inquiry yester-day failed to show any organized plan of action among the prohibitionists in Atlanta. Some of the prominent prohibitionists were seen—all had read the piece with interest, but it would be hard to say just what was the general impression produced. be hard to say just what was the general im be hard to say just what was the general impression produced.

Mr. Green Dodd was asked if any effort was contemplated by the prohibitionists of Atlanta by which the constitutionality of the license laws was to be tested.

"Not that I know of," he answered. "I read that piece with a great deal of interest, and I would be delighted to see the movement started here. I would contribute $500 to help it, and I would be glad to do so. I think, too, that the plan is a feasible one. Why, nine-tenths of the doctors in Atlanta would sign a certificate that the whisky traffic is injurious to the general health, and there is no doubt whatever that the public morals are injured. What more is needed? Yes, sir, I am ready, anxious, eral health, and there is no doubt whatever that the public morals are injured. What more is needed? Yes, sir, I am ready, anxious, and waiting to see the movement start."

Mr. Phil Dodd echoed his brother's sentiments. Others favored the movement but were not so sanguine as to the result. Still others were opposed to making the movement. "Why, it can't do any good," said Mr. Hooper Alexander. "The decision in no wise effects the power of the legislatures to regulate the license laws in the various states. No, there is no question in law and it would be a bad idea to have the matter agitated by any such course."

SHE DIED SUDDENLY.

A Negro Woman is Taken Suddenly Ill and Dies on Fair Street. Yesterday afternoon, about half past four, young colored woman, carrying on her head a basket of clothes, stopped suddenly in front of Ella Foster's house, 151 Fair street. Entering the gate she dropped. * rbasket, and running around to the side doc, said excitedly:

"For God's sake give me some camphor. I'm cheking."

I'm choking."

She was handed the camphor and a glass, and had barely begun filling the glass when she rose from her sitting posture and then fell face downward from the steps. In the excitement nothing was done except to lay her face upward on the grass. She was foaming violently at the mouth, and seemed to be unconscious. Before a physician could arrive the woman was dead. She lived about fifteen minutes after she was taken ill.

The body lay in the yard, within a few feet of the sidewalk, until seven o'clock, when it was taken to the home of her mother, Rachael Terrell, on Randolph street, near the Air-Line shops. Her body was first recognized by her stepfather. Her name is Lucinda Pitts. The coroner's inquest will be held this morning.

Rumers that Several Wholesale Grocery Houses are Going to Sell Liquor. Houses are Going to Sell Liquor.

For two or three days it has been currently rumored that several of the wholesale grocery houses on Alabama street contemplated retiring from the grocery business and entering the wholesale liquor trade. On yesterday the rumors were investigated by a Constitution reporter and found to be untrue. On Monday last Wyly & Greene, the wholesale grocers, applied for a wholesale liquor license and the application was referred by the council to the police committee, and in this the rumor had its origin. Every wholesale grocery house on Alabama street was seen and all denied the rumor except Wyly & Greene. That firm, however, denied any intention to retire from the wholesale grocery trade, but will simply add the wholesale liquor line and conduct the two lines together.

Mr. C. W. Hunnicutt was elected county commissioner to succeed himself.

During the three sessions of the grand jury about fifty bills were investigated. Most of the cases considered were such as are commonly brought in court—larceny, burglary, assault and battery, misdemeanore, etc.

The Schumann—Jacobs matter was not acted upon. The solicitor promises, Dr. Schumann says, to present it to the grand jury at its next meeting.

The various sensations which were expected did not materialize.

When this sensational artist and his thrilling play were in Norfolk last season the Norfolk Public Ledger gave them the following notice:

Frank T. Frayne and his strong company opened at the Academy of Music last night to a very large audience in "Mardo," a highly sensational comedy drama, and was supported by Miss DeForrest in the dual rule of "Leonors" and "Countess Teresa." Mr. J. V. Mellon, in the triple characters of "Marquis La Rooke," "Count Villano" and "Tom Garvey," enacted the part of a scheming villain to perfection. Frank T. Frayne, Jr., as "Jacob Tough," became a favorite with the gallery gods by his humorous rendition of the character. The company is a good one, and the play contains many interesting features, notably the fire scene, which is the most realistic we have ever seen. The entrance to the lion's den in the last act was a most thrilling seene, and induced some of the timid in the audience to make tracks. "Mardo" is destined to have

A writer in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch has A writer in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch has been agitating the following question of social etquette: "Is it right for a young lady who has received gifts of jeweiry and other valuable articles from a young man to whom she was engaged, to keep them after the engagement is broken off, or ought she to return them to the giver." This is an interesting point. "As to this question," remarked a society young man to a Constructure representative last night. "I am pursuaded the girl should keep the presents, for it would wound her discarded lover's feeling to have the gifts thrust back into his over's feeling to have the gifts thrust back into his lover's feeling to have the gifts thrust back into his possession."

Another young man who has had much experience in love affairs, asid: "It is my opinion that the proper thing for a young lady to do with the gifts she accepted from a young man is to return them to him in case the engagement is broken off. Valuable presents, such as lewelry, should always be returned. This is the ruling custom in all polite society, and it is a rule of conduct founded upon natural good taste and del'eacy. It is always a good custom, from an economic point of view, for the ural good taste and del'caey. It is always a good custom, from an economic point of view, for the same set of jewerly might be used as gifts to half a dozen young ladies."

A bright young lawyer, who mingles much in society, had his say: "Gifts are absolute transfers of personal property, and unless they are conditional they cannot be recovered by law. If given conditionally, a suit for breach of contract might be a prought. But, legally, a young lady has a right to keep all the presents she has received from young men, even if they desire her to return them to them. This is the law."

Now, this is what a society young lady has to say

Now, this is what a society young lady has to say on the subject; "I do not think girls ought to ac cept gifts of jewelry from the men they are going to narry, except, of course, the wedding ring and wedding presents. When gifts of jewelry are ac-cepted, however, I think that they should be returned if the engagement is broken. I know of some nice girls who, not having a large supply of jewelry, have kept presents after the engagement was at an end. I have heard of a few cases in which the circumitances were such as to make the keeping of the gifts a pleasure to both."

HOUNDING DOWN A BIGAMIST. An Illinois Engineer Plays a Fast Game in California.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., March 7 .- [Special.]-Michael Fox, alias James B. Foss, a fugitive forger and bigamist from Illinois, was arrested here today and will be taken back to Rockford, Suddenly it was discovered that Fox had left town, gone no one knew whither, and leaving behind him merchants and friends whose names he forged to notes aggregating $5,000. A brother-in-law, J. T. Fenton, was a victim to the extent of $2,500. Nothing was heard by his victims of Fox's whereabouts, but it seems that soom after his disappearance he wrote to his wife from California, bidding her be of good cheer, that he would make enough money there to pay his debts and return to his old home.

He wrote regularly to her until about a year ago, when the letters ceased. She waited some time, and them wrote to a farmer near where her husband said he was working. His reply said her husband had married again. Then she took her brother into her confidence, and the result was the arrest today. Fox, or Foss, was found to have led a good life in Sonora county, working in lumber mills. He married a respectable years woman, and came to this city, where he secured work as an engineer in a spice mill.

The first intimation he head of his pursuit was this morning, when he heard the familiar voice of his brother-in-law, saying, "Here is your man." He grew ashy pale as the dead, and before he recovered his composure he was handcuffed, and when taken to the city prison he asked to have his wife sent for. She showed great grief, but bore the blow bravely. She begged that no publicity be given to the arrest, as she had married him only three weeks ago. She expressed her determination to accompany him on his eastern trip.

THE BILL WAS STOLEN.

Desperate Mutilation of the Missislppi Legislative Record.

JACKSON, Miss., March 7.—[Special.]—The senate and house have not agreed on the appropriation bills, and a third conference committee is now trying to reconcile the differences. This fund amounts to upwards of $850,000.

ALABAMA POLITICS.

Meeting of the Democratic State Executive Montgomery. Ala., March 7.—[Special.]—
The state executive committee of the democratic party of Alabama met in this city today and the attendance was unusually large. The meeting was held in the city council chamber and was called to order at 11 o'clock by Colonel H. C. Tompkins, chairman. The purpose of the meeting was to fix the basis of representation from the counties and select the place and time for holding the next state convention. The basis was fixed at one delegate to every three hundred democratic votes cast for governor at the last general election, and one for every fraction of a hundred and fifty votes and over. This basis reduces the representation in the state convention one-third. The former ratio allowed one delegate to two hundred ratio allowed one delegate to two hundred votes. In the new basis there will be about five hundred and seventy-five delegates in the convention. Montgomery was chosen as the place for holding the state convention, and the committee decided to call the convention to meet on the 9th day of May. Dr. J. M. Brand was elected a member of the committee to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Hon. J. N. Suttle, of Bibb county.

Augusta Negroes Grow Wild Over the Election of Delegates— The Disputing Factions.

Augusta, Ga., March §7.—[Special.]—The negro republicans of Richmond county met to-night in answer to the call of Chairman R. R. It was with the greatest effort that the dozen policemen present kept the crowd off the stage, and prevented a general melec. Finally the police had to peremotorily and foreibly clean the hall, Both sides claim to have carried the meeting, and to have elected full tickets. Wright claims to be continued in the office of chairman of the executive committee, and will go to Sandersville and Atlanta at the head of delegates, claiming to have been elected by the heeting. P. H. Craig claims to have been elected chairman of the county executive committee, and will go to Atlanta and Sandersville at the head of delegations, also claiming to have been elected tonight.

Your correspondent was at the meeting, but can throw no light on the result. He was on the stage and occupied a seat whenever he thought it safe to do so, and when the riot seemed most imminent, he oscillated between a back door and a window that was accessible. He heard no votes put or carried. The disorder was supreme, and neither side would let the other be heard. Both sides claim, and each charges the disorder on the other.

MUST BUILD A NEW ROAD.

New Railroad Officer Becomes Obstruct-BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 7.—[Special.]—
The Georgia Pacific Railrocd company is having trouble about the western division of the road beyond Columbus, Miss. When the road was completed to Columbus the company leased the Starkeville branch of the Mobile and Ohio road, which ville branch of the Mobile and Ohio road, which has since been used by the Georgia Pacific. Recently Manager Talcott, of the Mobile and Ohio, was succeeded by J. C. Clark, and the new manager declines to lease or sell the Starkeville branch of his road. The officers of the Georgia Pacific are now in Columbus, and a dispatch tonight states that they have decided to build an independent line between Columbus and Starkeville.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Stocks as Reported at the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, March 7.—The stock market was again more active today, though improvement in amount of business was spasmodic and "irregular. London houses were most prominent in selling during the forenoon, the movement being based on unfavorable reports in regard to the emperor and crown prince of Germany which created increased. crown prince of Germany, which created increased uneasiness in European houses. That interest was also conspicuous later, when more definite news of an unfavorable turn in the condition of the emperor was received. Shorts were inclined to cove during the early portion of the day, and materially aided a rise at that time, but the above-mentioned news, with the action of the engineers brotherhood and rumored strike on the Chicago, Burlington & and rumored strike on the Chicago, Burlington & the Northern precipitated flood, short stocks as well as induced some long selling. The Reading, St. Paul & Lackawanna were special features of the day, and in turn became objects of interest of the bears, which ran their total transactions up to high figures. Some interest was taken in the Louisville & Nashville and Richmond & West Point and contest for control in the latter is said to be still on, but fluctuations today give no evidence of it. The opening was quiet and heavy to weak at declines from last evenings closing prices of 1/20%, but list opening was quet and neary to weak at declines from last evenings closing prices of 1/201/2, but list moved up at once, and with very little feature beyond activity in Reading & St. Paul advanced stradily until toward 1 o'clock p. m., when everything yielded and declined in the last hour under marked increase in amount of business gained. The force and lowest prices of the day were made at the close, which was weak and active. Total sales, 300,772 shares, of which 105,000 were Reading.

COTTON MARKETS. CONSTITUTION OFFICE

ATLANTA, March 7, 1888 Net receipts for 4 days 49,775 bulles, against 60,044 bales last year: exports 61,056 bales; last year 78,026 bales; stock 788,082 bales; last year 744,126 bales.

Below we give the opening and closing quotations of cotton futures in New York today:

Local—Cotton very dull; middling 91/4c. Local—Cotton very dull; middling 9½c.

NEW YORK, March 7—Hubbard, Price & Co., in their circular today, say: The result of the day's session has not contributed toward a steadier feeling or higher prices. The opening report from Liverpool showed a lack of strength, in consequence of unfavorable political rumors and the announcement of some important failures on the Continent. At the opening this market was sustained by the execution of some large buying orders, but it soon commenced to sag and broke rapidly under the announcement of another failure among the traders here, and the close was at the lowest of the day, while the undertone showed considerable uneasiness. Receipts continue relatively full, but this feature is, at the moment without any practical bearing upon the course of speculation, and operators are awaiting the outcome of the recent large liquidation, which, it is feared, was more disastrous in its consequences than was at first apparent. On its consequences than was at first apparent. On the other hand, there is great confidence felt on the value of cotton by people not of the usual speculative element, and we believe that at these prices certificates are being largely absorbed by those who are likely to prove tenacious holders of them.

MANCHESTER, March 7.- The Guardian says: MANCHESIER, March 7.—The Guardian says: Tuesday's business was unusually light. Prices were occasionally irregular. The prevailing tone was steady. Sellers for the most part were not inclined to press sales. Eastern trade was very much hampered by the recent fall in exchange and the difficulty of raising prices in India and far east to compensate. Orders for minor foreign markets are difficulty of raising prices in India and far east to compensate. Orders for minor foreign markets are not plentiful. Buying for Italy has ceased, owing to the enforcement of a general tariff on March Ist, and trade with the United States is temporarily checked in consequence of a possible reduction in import duties. The weakness in Cotton Monday probably encouraged buyers to hold off. There has been a small inquiry for export yarns, but sales have been scanty, since merchants are not prepared to purchase, even moderately, except at ungeitable lower rates. Cloth departments are quiet. There has been only a small amount of buying and but little inquiry. India and Chira staples are in most cases sufficiently well under contract to prevent the necessity of making concessions. Printing cloths are dull. Comm a makes are offered more freely. There is a more active business in home trade houses in fancy and white goods. Cloths and Mexicans and other heavy goods are quiet, with slow demand.

THE CHICAGO MARKET. Features of the Speculative Movement is Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, March 7—[Special.]—The grain markets were slower and the feeling decidedly weak, and prices on all speculative cereals ranged lower. Outside business, which operators have been looking for, and which yesterday gave signs of increasing, seems to have disappeared, and the bulk of trading was by local scalpers, who worked alternately on both sides of the market with a moderate degree of success. Hutchison was the leading spirit, and his operations overshadowed those of all others. Wheat dragged along until nearly noon with scarcely any trading being done. Finally the longs began to drop stuff overboard in moderate quantities. May opened at 80%c, sold lo 80%c to 80%e 10%c, declined gradually to 80%c, then toward the close covering by shorts caused a reation to 86%c. Grain and Provisions.

by shorts caused a reation to 80%c.

The local crowd started in to sell corn this morn ing, but the first hour or so had only indifferent success in holding the market down, as they did occasionally. It seemed quite elastic for a time and jumped back whenever there was any relief from the pressure. Later, however, the critical point of 53c for May was passed, and then there came a flood of long corn, which of itself brought about the remainder of the break suffered during the session.

mainder of the break suffered during the session. May opened at 53½,@53½c, thung some time between 53½,@53½c, then dropped gradually to 52½,@52½c, reacted on reports that the railroad strike was likely to spread, and closed at 53c.

There was a rather small speculative trade in oats. The market declined, following the lead of corn. May opened at 32c and closed at 31½c.

Provisions showed considerable strength. Lard and short ribs were a little heavy, but in pork the mayer may was more satisfactory for the bulk, then movement was more satisfactory for the bulls than for some time. In the latter article trading, espe-cially early in the day, was quite animated, and prices sustained a substantial advance. The specu-lative interest was largely directed to short ribs. Lard was comparatively slow throughout

CUTTING IT DOWN.

The County Commissioners Reduce the License $1,000.

Mr. Collins Tries to Cut it Down to 8500 and Fails-Mr. Riser Carries His Point-Other Matters.

The most important thing done by the county commissioners at their regular meeting yesterday morning was the reduction of the wholesale whisky license from $1,000 to

After some uninteresting routine business had been discharged, Mr. Jim Collins remarked that before the board adjourned he wished to make a proposition, which, he trusted, would meet with no opposition. He moved that the wholesale liquor license be educed to $500.

"Gentlemen," said he, "this is a reasonable figure; it's rather a high license than otherwise, and I hope you will consent to have it made $500 from this date."

Dr. Wilson promptly seconded the motion, saying: "Gentlemen, I think Mr. Collins is saying: "Gentlemen, I think Mr. Collins is perfectly right. The present license is decidedly too high, and the proposed figure will be just about the thing. I agree with Mr. Collins that it is a high license."

Colonel George W. Adair said that he did not favor the proposition. "It's a pretty steep cut Mr. Collins proposes. I see no good reason why so great a reduction should be made."

Mr. Hunnicutt was favorably impressed with the proposition. Said he: "I can give at least one good reason why the license should be reduced, and it is that dealers who are now selling whisky without any license at all, might ing whisky without any license at all, might come in, if the license were made $500, and take out one. Besides, it has been shown that the idea of a sixteen hundred dollar license is the idea of a sixteen numbered donar license is not a popular one."

About this time Colonel Thomson, the attorney for the commissioners, came in, and one of the members asked him to enlighten the board upon one point, viz: "can the money in excess of the $500, already paid by several dealers that have taken out a wholesale license, be refunded, if we adopt the motion of Mr. Collins?"

dealers that have taken out a wholesake items, be refunded, if we adopt the motion of Mr. Collins?"

"My opinion, gentlemen," replied the attorney, "is that it can't be done. It would require a special act of the legislature."

Commissioner Kiser, who, up to this point had sai dvery little, rose and remarked that he would make a suggestion which hebelieved would settle the matter. "My plan is this," said he: "Let us split the difference between the license as it now is and the amount Mr. Collins proposes to make it. Let us fix it at $1,000. We can then, if necessary, go before the legislature and secure the legislation which will enable us to refund the money to Mr. Thompson, Mr. Potts, Kenney & Werner, who have, I understand, paid the sixteen hundred dollars' license. This is the reasonable solution, and I propose to amend the motion of Mr. Collins by making the wholesale license for dealers in the city of Atlanta one thousand dollars from this time forth."

"That," said Colonel Adair, "is just such a wise suggestion as we might naturally expect to come from Major Kiser. I heartly concur with him and second his motion. I trust it will prevail."

"Now, gentlemen," said Mr. Collins, "I with him and second his motion. I trust it will prevail."

"Now, gentlemen," said Mr. Collins, "I have another proposition. I am willing to split the difference and make it $750."

It was evident the commissioners were opposed to this, and when the motion was put, it was voted down decisively. Then Mr. Riser's motion was acted on and all the members voted for it. Thus was the license reduced to $1.000.

A petition was submitted, asking the commissioners to provide for the establishing of an additional militia district in the country to be known as Edgewood district. It was rebe known as Edgewood district. It was referred to a committee without discussion.

Several other petitions referring to different subjects were disposed of in the same way. The most important of these was one submitted by Mr. Walter R. Brown for the lighting of the county courthouse clock. He made a short speech in support of his petition. He gave several good reasons why the clock should be illiuminated, and told how it would be a great convenience to the public. In response to an inquiry about its cost, he stated that it would cost the county about one thousand dollars a year to keep it lighted every night in the year. He thought this small amount ought not to stand in the way of so important a matter.

It was deemed best not to take immediate action, and the petition was referred to the committee on public buildings. It is understood that this committee will make a favorable report at the next meeting of the commisferred to a committee without discussion gioners.

At 2 o'clock the board adjourned, and the members went to Pause's restaurant to dine with Mr. C. W. Hunricutt, who gave a dinner in honor of his re-election as a member of the

A GREAT LECTURER.

What is in Store for the Public Next Monday Night.

Night.

The lecture next Monday evening at Trinity church promises to be the most interesting of the winter's course.

Mr. Peter Mamreoff Von Finkelstein, of Jerusalem, will lecture. Mr. Von Finkelstein is of Slavonic parentage, and was born and brought up in Jerusalem. Even as a lad he took great interest in the peasantry of Palestine. While still very young he entered the service of Sir Charles Warren, then chief director of the Palestine exploration society's excavations, as interpreter, and thus daily came in contact with men of science and ability, and with many of the common people throughout the country. Later on he became interpreter to the United States consulate at Jerusalem, and in that capacity he formed the Jerusalem, and in that capacity he formed the acquintance of a number of Americans. This and the fact that his brother had gone to the United States, persuaded him to come to this

Mr. Von Finkelstein thoroughly understands Mr. Von Finkelstein thoroughly understands the manners and customs of ancient and modgrn life in Syria and Palestine; and with Bousehold furniture shows to his audiences real life in the historic east. His lecture on Monday evening will be on the subject of "Homes and Haunts of Jesus." He will be dressed in elegant and costly oriental costume, and will select from the audience a number of ladies and gentlemen and dress them in the costume of the Arabs, for purposes of illustration. Dr. Vincent pronounces this one of the most entertaining and brilliant of all the Chautuaqua exercises. Tickets will be on sale at Wilson & Bruckner's.

HE WILL LEAVE ATLANTA.

Rabbi J. S. Jacobson Decides to Remove to Natchez, Miss.

The many friends of the Rev. J. S. Jacobom—and he has many among all the denominations in the city—will regret his departure from Atlanta. He has determined to leave Atlanta, about the first of next April, for Natchez, Miss., where he will be in charge of a church. The call was made recently, and he did not feel at liberty to refuse it.

For seven years Dr. Jacobson has ministered to his flock in Atlanta. He has been a zealous heator and an earnest preacher, and has exerted a good influence upon all with whom he has come in contact. he has come in contact.

The Jewish synagogue, of Atlanta, will, so soon as Dr. Jacobson leaves the city, be without a spiritual field, unless his successor shall be chosen before then.

CUTTING IT DOWN

The County Commissioners Reduce the License $1,000.

Mr. Collins Tries to Cut it Down to 850 and Fails-Mr. Kiser Carries His Point-Other Matters. The most important thing done by the county commissioners at their regular meeting vesterday morning was the reduction of the wholesale whisky license from $1,000 to

After some uninteresting routine business had been discharged, Mr. Jim Collina remarked that before the board adjourned he wished to make a proposition, which, he trusted, would meet with no opposition. He moved that the wholesale liquor license be reduced to $500.

"Gentlemen," said he, "this is a reasonable figure; it's rather a high license than other-wise, and I hope you will consent to have it' made $500 from this date."

on this date."
Dr. Wilson promptly seconded the motion, saying: "Gentlemen, I think Mr. Collins is perfectly right. The present license is deperfectly right. The present license is decidedly too high, and the proposed figure will be just about the thing. I agree with Mr. Collins that it is a high license."

Colonel George W. Adair said that he did not favor the proposition. "It's a pretty steep cut Mr. Collins proposes. I see no good reason why so great a reduction should be made."

Mr. Hunnicutt was favorably impressed with the proposition. Said he: "I can give at least one good reason why the license should be rethe proposition. Said he: "I can give at least one good reason why the license should be reduced, and it is that dealers who are now selling whisky without any license at all, might come in, if the license were made $500, and take out one. Besides, it has been shown that the idea of a sixteen hundred dollar license is not a popular one."

About this time Colonel Thomson, the atterney for the commissioners, came in, and one of the members asked him to enlighten the board upon one point, viz: "can the money in excess of the $500, already paid by several dealers that have taken out a wholesale license, be refunded, if we adopt the motion of Mr.

be refunded, if we adopt the motion of Mr. Collins?"

"My opinion, gentlemen," replied the attorney, "is that it can't be done. It would require a special act of the legislature."

Commissioner Kiser, who, up to this point had sai dvery little, rose and remarked that he would make a suggestion which he believed would settle the matter. "My plan is this," said he: "Let us split the difference between the license as it now is and the amount Mr. Collins proposes to make it. Let us fix it at $1,000. We can then, if necessary, go before the legislature and secure the legislation which will enable us to refund the money to Mr. Thompson, Mr. Potts, Kenney & Werner, who have, I understand, paid the sixteen hundred dollars license. This is the reasonable solution, and I propose to amend the motion of Mr. Collins by making the wholesale license for dealers in the city of Atlanta one thousand dollars from this time forth."

me forth."
"That," said Colonel Adair, "is just such a

"That," said Colonel Adair, "is just such a wise suggestion as we might naturally expect to come from Major Kiser. I heartly concur with him and second his motion. I trust it will prevail."
"Now, gentlemen," said Mr. Collins, "I have another proposition. I am willing to split the difference and make it $750."

It was evident the commissioners were opposed to this, and when the motion was put, it was voted down decisively. Then Mr. Kiser's motion was acted on and all the members voted for it. Thus was the license reduced to $1,000.

voted for it. Thus was the license reduced to $1.000.

A petition was submitted, asking the commissioners to provide for the establishing of an additional militia district in the country, to be known as Edgewood district. It was referred to a committee without discussion.

Several other petitions referring to different subjects were disposed of in the same way. The most important of these was one submitted by Mr. Walter R. Brown for the lighting of the county courthouse clock. He made a short speech in support of his petition. He gave several good reasons why the clock should be illiuminated, and told how it would be a great convenience to the public. In response to an inquiry about its cost, he stated that it would cost the county about one thousand dollars a year to keep it lighted every night in the year. He thought this small amount ought not to stand in the way of so important a matter.

It was deemed best not to take immediate action, and the petition was referred to the committee on public buildings. It is understood that this committee will make a favorable report at the next meeting of the commissioners.

At 2 o'clock the board adjourned, and the

At 2 o'clock the board adjourned, and the members went to Panse's restaurant to dine with Mr. C. W. Hunricutt, who gave a dinner in honor of his re-election as a member of the board.

A GREAT LECTURER.

What is in Store for the Public Next Monday Night.

Night.

The lecture next Monday evening at Trinity church premises to be the most interesting of the winter's course.

Mr. Peter Mamreoff Von Finkelstein, of Jerusalem, will lecture. Mr. Von Finkelstein is of Slavonic parentage, and was born and brought up in Jerusalem. Even as a lad he took great interest in the peasantry of Palestine. While still very young he entered the service of Sir Charles Warren, then chief director of the Palestine exploration society's excavations, as interpreter, and thus daily came in contact with men of science and ability, and with many of the common people throughout the country. Later on he became interpreter to the United States consulate at Jerusalem, and in that capacity he formed the acquintance of a number of Americans. This and the fact that his brother had gone to the United States, persuaded him to come to this country.

Mr. Von Finkelstein thoroughly understands

United States, persuaded him to come to this country.

Mr. Von Finkelstein thoroughly understands the manners and customs of ancient and modern life in Syria and Palestine; and with household furniture shows to his audiences real life in the historic east. His lecture on Monday evening will be on the subject of "Homes and Haunts of Jesus." He will be dressed in elegant and costly oriental costume, and will select from the audience a number of ladies and gentlemen and dress them in the costume of the Arabs, for purposes of illustration. Dr. Vincent pronounces this one of the most entertaining and brilliant of all the Chautuaqua exercises. Tickets will be on sale at Wilson & Bruckner's.

HE WILL LEAVE ATLANTA.

Rabbi J. S. Jacobson Decides to Remove to Natchez, Miss.

The many friends of the Rev. J. S. Jacoben—and he has many among all the denominations in the city—will regret his departure from Atlants. He has determined to leave Atlants, about the first of next April, for Natchez, Miss., where he will be in charge of a church. The call was made recently, and he did not feel at liberty to refuse it.

For seven years Dr. Jacobson has ministered to his flock in Atlanta. He has been a zealous pastor and an earnest preacher, and has exerted a good influence upon all with whom he has come in contact.

The Jewish synagogue, of Atlanta, will, so soon as Dr. Jacobson leaves the city, be without a spiritful head, unless his successor shall be chosen before them.

"A word with you," said Mr. W. H. Parkins, the architect, yesterday as a reporter of The

"What's it?" was asked.

"I want to say something about a proposed building which will greatly interest the public.

have invited me to submit some preliminary plans and specifications and estimates of cost."

"Atlanta does need such a building," the reporter suggested.

"There is no doubt about it. That such a building is a necessity no one doubts. We have no building with capacity to seat enefourth of the people who would attend these large meetings if they could be accommodated with seats. A building suitable and convenient for mass meetings, conventions, military and other fairs, balls and military drills would be sure to draw patronage. All large and prominent cities north have their large auditoriums, and New York is now erecting the new Madison Square garden which will be the largest and best equipped building in the United States. When we look back and see how very uncomfortable it was to attend the meetings of the international Sunday school convention held in the First Baptist church, the Moody and Sankey meetings, away down on Bell street in a cotton warehouse, Sam Jones's meetings, military fairs, Y. M. C. A. conventions and other public mass meetings, together with the Sunday-school conventions, and now we see that Gilmore's great band is coming; does not these facts suggest that something should be done to accommodate the great masses who would attend these meetings if they were given them comfortable quarters? A hall built in ampitheater style, with a large organ on the stage, and having a capacity of 5,000 settings with suitable committee rooms, offices and restaurant, would be sure to draw many a convention to our city that goes to other cities where suitable accommodations can be had. Atlanta being the most central and prominent railroad city in the south, such a building as we hope to see erected would be of incalculable benefit in bringing our city into prominence when committees are casting about for a suitable locality in which to hold their conventions. into prominence when committees are casting about for a suitable locality in which to hold their conventions. We have the biggest hotel in the south, now let us have the biggest auditorium building, and then we can invite the national democratic convention to meet here as well as other important conventions."

THE VOLUNTEER FIREMEN.

Meeting Last Night to Arrange for the Reception of the Philadelphia Firemen.

The Philadelphia Volunteer Firemen's association will arrive in Atlanta today at 1:25 en route from New Orleans to Philadelphia.

The old volunteer firemen of Atlanta wishing to show them some attention during their brief stay in the city, held a meeting last night at the office of the Atlanta Gas company, to make arrangements for the reception of the visitors. There were present, Chief Joyner, Messrs. John H. Mecaslin, John Ellsworth, Jerry Lynch, William Erskine, John K. Weaver, Lewis S. Morris, George Deihl, Robert Bean, Martin Nally, T. W. Haney, Sr., H. P. Haney and T. W. Haney. It was decided to have a parade by the visitors and the Atlanta volunteer firemen tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock. On motion, the following line of march was mapped out. The line will form in front of the Kimball house and proceed up Pryor to Peachtree, down Peachtree to Marietta, up Marietta to Cone, and counter-march to Broad, thence down Broad to Mitchell, thence to Whitehall, up Whitehall to Alabama, down Alabama to Loyd, up Loyd to Decatur, up Decatur to Pryor and disperse.

Indian to advertise their club or stick cigar. People will readily recognize their efforts to call attention to a cigar which has no connection with an Indian, their reason being that the Pappoose cigar, the best cigar on earth, has an Indian name and has a man representing an Indian to advertise it. The Pappoose cigars are sold direct to the retailer, and not sold by tobacco and cigar jobbers at all, as the Pappoose cigars cost too much for jobbers to pay and make a profit on. The consumers will continue to smoke the Pappoose cigar and enjoy it for years. It is unlike the cigars that jobbers have for years foisted on the south and invariably deteriorated in quality. We shall take no further notice of our imitators, but warn the public to take only the genuine Pappoose cigar.

Our Unqualified Challenge An American Zola. In his novel, "The Truth About Tristem Varick," Mr. Edgar Saltus has given the world a story that should have been left untold. The story is original and powerful, and it holds the reader to the end, but when he lays it aside he is tempted to pronounce it worse than Zola's worst. We do not mean to say that Mr. Saltus is another Zola. He lacks the Frenchman's coarseness. He never calls a spade a spade. When he has something utterly vile to bring before his readers he does not say a word about it; he simply portrays a certain set of circumstances, and leaves the readers to draw[their own conclusion. It takes Zola's superior to do this. IS UNACCEPTED! REMINGTON STANDARD draw[their own conclusion. It takes Zola's superior to do this.

"Tristem Varick" does not contain a single indelicate scene or a single objectionable sentence, and yet it would be impossible to clearly summarize the plot of the story without bringing a blush to the cheeks of every reader. The central incident of the rovel is one that was never used before in fiction, and it is to be hoped that it will never be used again. The critics say that the author has handled the incident delicately, and they are right. He has done more. In his manner of handling it he has d splayed a consummate art worthy of a master.

The trouble about "Tristem. Varick" is not in the printed words; it is in what we read be in the printed words; in the printed words; it is in what we read between the lines—in our necessary inferences and conclusions. Only in this roundabout way is it possible to notice this remarkable book. It is a literary curiosity, deserving a certain kind of admiration, and at the same time the severest condemnation. But the book has to be read, as it would be an offense against decency to attempt to give even a faint outline of its plot. Price 25c. For sale at THORNTON'S Book Store.

But I was dealing with Wynn, and felt no particular misgiving until that note came. I expect Mr. Wynn back tomorrow."

"Where is he now?"

"I suppose he is with his family in Milner. I understand that he owned a valuable store and farm there, and is a very prosperous young man, and that he sold everything to invest in this. He had rented a house up here on Garnet street, near the Jewish synagogue, expecting to move his family up this week.

"Gents—It is with great pleasure that I bear testimony to the beneficial results of the use of Inv goring by my wife. In 1-71 my wife was attacked by blood poison. For weeks she was delirious, and for several years she has been in feeble health, not able to walk and almost blind. A number of remedies tyre tried, but with little effect. After using Invisoring she is fast regaining her wonted strength; can walk a mile and a half to church without fatiguing her, and her eyesight is growing better every day. The Invigorine has caused every member of my household to rejoice in the benefit conferred on my wife. I have tried it myself in several cases. I can conscientiously say that it has strengthened me monte than any other remedy I ever tried.

But in the mean time, Fain was not idle. He was after Sims, and he intended to get him and deliver him up to justice. Sims was traced to Birmingham, Chattanooga, Memphis, Meridian city, Vicksburg, Montgomery, then to Birmingham again, and some time in last January he appeared in Atlanta. Fain heard of this, and some officers were sent after the fugitive. Out on Humphries street the negro was found, but he succeeded in making his escape. Then he went to Conyers, Seneca, S. C., and Greenville, and at the last place he was, at the instance of Detective Fellows, of the Air-Line road, arrested. This was last Thursday. The tailor at once got out a requisition for Sims, and on yesterday morning he was handed over to the county authorities, and now languishes in jail.

A GREAT SCHEME,

In Which E. Y. Loomis Figured as the Schemer.

The Loomis National Library Associatio custed-Loomis Charged With Cheating and Swindling. The Loomis National Library association ha gone under, and thereby hangs a tale in which the sum of $1,800 figures On January 16th a room in the Chamberlin

& Johnson building was engaged and fitted out in elegant style by Mr. E. Y. Loomis, the head of the Loomis National Library associa-

The quarters were soon filled with books and stationery, and a brisk business air was given the place by the numerous clerks, agents and canvassers. Outside the office, in various towns in Georgia, Alabama and South Carolina, canvassers were hard at work under authority of the Library association, and to a casual observer it must have seemed that the as-association, and Mr. E. Y. Leomis is president thereof. Mr. C. O. Wynn, of Milner, Ga., by virtue of a contract with Mr. Loomis, was general agent for the states of Georgia, Alabama and South Carolina. The city of Atlanta was given by Mr. Wynn to Mr. E. D. Cheshire, the real estate man. Mr. Cheshire was given by Mr. Wynn a guarantee of $97 for the first month, and Mr. Wynn in turn was given a guarantee of a sum almost double

The operations of a concern which promised such bounteous recompense to its agents and sub-agents were gathered in detail from Mr. Cheshire yesterday such bounteous recompense to its agents and sub-agents were gathered in detail from Mr. Cheshire yesterday.

"In the first place," said Mr. Cheshire, "it is an association of which to become a member you must pay $9.75. That entitles you to a certificate of membership for ten years. There were appointed canvassers in every city of any size who solicited subscriptions. Now for the objects of the association. The funds paid in for memberships amounted, you must see, to an immense sum. Now, suppose a member wants a piano. A big association like that, by favoring a certain firm and by ordering its goods by wholesale, could obtain a big discount upon the regular price, and the member was given the full benefit of this eiscount.

"For example, a $500 piano could be bought for $300 to $350. Envelopes which would cost you ten cents at any book store, could be had for three or four cents. And so with a list of $0,000 books, office furniture, all kinds of stationery, and musical instruments. Mr Wynn gave me that explanation as given him by Mr. Loomis, You see it's a feasable scheme, and I felt no hesitation in accepting the agency for Atlanta. Iwas further influenced to do this by my knowledge of Mr. Wynn's character. He's a perfect gentleman and he'll do to tie to. So I made tion, and for the first time I met Mr. Loomis. I never saw a man who impressed me more unfavorably at first sight. He is a thick, heavy set man of thirty-eight or forty, about five feet ten inches, and weighs one hundred and sixty pounds. He wears a black beard and mustache, has thick lips, and round mouth, dresses rather stylishly, and his general expression is a greedy, overbearing one.

"In a short while I left. Next morning I went back, but nobody was there; and again Friday morning. On Saturday morning I re-

March 7, 1888. GIBBS DRUG COMPANY. "And about the $1,800?"

"Mr. Wynn, in course of conversation with Mr. Loomis on Wednesday, became satisfied that the affair was a fraud. This is evidenced that the affair was a fraud that the af us will be payable at the old stand, and all liabilities will be settled by the old firm.

by the fact that in company with his lawyer, he went before Judge Tanner and swore out a warrant against Loomis for cheating and swindling. It is said that, to the surprise of all parties concerned, Loomis did not deny the charge, but simply asked for a little time, promising to refund the money and begging that the matter be kept out of the papers. In five separate payments, the last of which was effected Tuesday night, the $1,800 has been recovered."

covered."

Mr. Wynn could not be found last night, but the most probable theory as to how Mr. Loomis got the $1,800 is this: It was paid for books, and there were afterwards shipped to Mr. Wynn about $600 worth of books. This information comes from Mr. Cheshire. Afterwards Loomis ordered part of the books elsewhere, and Mr. Wynn was left with almost nothing to represent the money he had invested. This was the state of affairs when the warrant was sworn out.

nothing to represent the money he had invested. This was the state of affairs when the warrant was sworn out.

"Oh, he's worked the scheme before," remarked the lawyer Monday. "Why, we've heard from half a dozen southern cities, and I think he is undoubtedly the same man. It's the same scheme exactly. I was surprised that he didn't fight the charge, but he knuckled right under. It's a great scheme."

Yesterday afternoon the last chapter in the story was given by a young man named Adams, son of Rev. Dr. Adams, of Cartersville. The young man says that he was employed by Mr. Loomis to represent the association in Griffin. He went to a considerable expense, paying his own expenses and turning over all the money to headquarters and found Tuesday that there was a young man named Roberts who was also armed with a certificate of exclusive agency for Griffin and its vicinity. It was exactly the same agency that had been given him, (Adams,) and he came to Atlanta only to find that E. Y. Loomis had been charged with cheating and swindling and the Loomis National Library association in Atlanta was a thing of the ouning.

Sims was one of a gang of six negroes who were charged with a burglary committed in 1886. Upon the preliminary hearing he was bound over, and Henry Fain, the tailor, went on his bond for $500. Then Sims disappeared, and Fain saw nothing more of him until yesterday.

IT WILL BE AT ATLANTA NEXT FALL.

Ingalls Palls to Make His Promised Speech
—Georgia Claims in Congress
—General News.

WASHINGTON, March 8 .- [Special.] -- I have noted, of late, several paragraphs in the Georgia papers relative to a government appropriation for the Colored National Industrial exposition, to be held in Atlanta next fall. I have oted that Birmingbam is endeavoring to get the exposition, and today investigated the matter to find the following to be the true state of affairs:

Some weeks ago Senator Blair introduced bill to appropriate $600,000 for the purpose of aiding a national exposition of the colored race, to be held in Atlanta, Ga., in the years race, to be held in Atlanta, Ga., in the years 1888 and 1889, and providing that the presi-dent of the United States shall appoint eleven commissioners, who shall constitute a board of managers for the same. Shortly after the introduction of the bill Philip Joseph and others appeared before the senate committee on education and labor in the interest of the bill. The matter was referred to Senator Palmer, who agreed to report favorably on on appropriation of $400,000, but which report has not yet been made. The committee all favor Atlanta as the place for the exposition, and have been conferring with Judge Kelley, of Pennsylvania, with the view of getting him to introduce a similar bill

In all probability there will be an appropria tion for this purpose made, but neither the house nor the senate can be expected to agree to the amount Senator Palmer has promised to report. However, there is a good chance for about one-half the amount reported being appropriated. THE NEXT CAMPAIGN.

A prominent southern democrat, in speak ing tonight of the political outlook in connecwith the recent bloody shirt speeches made in the senate and house, stated that there is a sectional issue still left, and it will not be kept in the background. The waving of the bloody shirt is not as effectual as it was several years ago, but there are many northern people who pin their faith to that ensanguined symbol yet, and it has a potent efficacy even at this late day in keeping the republican organization of the north intact, and preclud-ing any break in the lines of the party. It goes without saying that the democratic party, be-ing in possession of the government, has a deing in possession of the government, has a decided advantage to begin with, as the ins invariably have over the outs. It is an advantage that supercedes or overshadows, in a great degree, the force of any issue that may be injected into the campaign, but even this advantage may be neutralized or altogether thrown away through blunders in rislation or leadership. Strongly intrenched as President Cleveland undoubtedly is in the confidence and respect of the country at large, there is still great need of democratic circumspection. There is no visible democratic majorlty big enough to bank on. Against the administration will be concentrated all those who differ with the president in his tariff views, although holding that he has exhibited an undue leaning towards the southern confederacy, all who retain a resentful recollection of his pension vetoes, and understand the black art of putting perverted constructions upon men's well-meant acts and motives. The odds seems to be decidedly in favor of democratic success, but it is not to be a walk-over.

SENATOR COLQUITT'S SPEECH. A member of the Georgia delegation from Senator Colquitt, were present in the senate at 2 o'clock today to hear his speech on the president's message. However, shortly after their arrival, they were greatly disappointed that Sena-tor Colquitt had agreed to postpone his speech until Monday, on account of the fact that the members of that body were very anxious to dispose of the pensions bill today, and could not do so unless Senator Colomits agreement. not do so unless Senator Colquitt consented to The following private bills, all of which were referred to the committe on claims, were introduced in the house by the Georgia delegation today:

By Mr. Blount—To pay to Leroy Napier $20,000 for property taken from him by the United States army in 1865. Also to pay to heirs of Nedham Ballard, of Georgia, $200.00

for property siezed and destroyed by the union

By Mr. Clements-To pay to Samuel Wood of Chattooga county $503 for supplies furnished the union army; also to pay William White of same county $576.90 for same; also $107.06 to George R. Ward of Floyd county for same; $597.50 to Alexander Vaugn of DeKalb county for same; $622.50 to John Smith of Chattooga county; $1,891.50 to Henry A. Sims, of Chattooga county; $1,249.50 to William P. Ramsey of Walker county; $1,305 to David R. Ramsey of Chattooga county; $712 to Perry W. Partain of Paulding county; $2,915.50 to James M. Foster of Paulding county; and $770 to Abner Worthy of Chat-tooga county. Also the following petitions for stores and supplies, which were referred to the court of claims. John G. Whitehead, administrator of John G. Whitehead, of Rome, $2,358; Sam Allison, executor of William P. Allison, of Walker county, $2,321; Luther Walter, of Floyd county, $502.

A DISPLAY OF ORATORY. The house was today treated to another dis-play of oratory and buncombe in the debate upon the bill appropriating ten thousand dol-lars for the purchase of two swords belonging to General James Shields, the hero of the Mexi-can war. The swords had been presented to him, one by the state of South Carolina and the other by the state of Illinois, the former costing five thousand and the latter three thou-sand dollars. The swords are to be placed on sand dollars. The swords are to be placed on exhibition in the national museum, along with like war trophies. Each of the swords had been presented to General Shields as memen-toes of his service to the country upon the battlefields at Cerro Gordo and Chorobusco, and in recognition by the re-spective states, for his kindness to the soldiers of the two states who were in his command. of the two states who were in his command There were but two speeches made in opposition to the bill, and they were made by Mr. Oates, of Alabama, and Mr. Hare, of Texas, who opposed it upon constitutional grounds, citing the possible danger of the precedent. Notwithstanding the indigent circumstances of the dead general, the fact that Shields had been a senator in congress from three states—Illinois, Wisconsin and Missouri—which never before was the privilege of any other man, and before was the privilege of any other man, and not likely to be in the future, furnished food for elequence which has scarcely ever before been equalled in the house. Tillman, of South Carolina, who had charge of the bill, made what is considered one of the greatest and most elequent speeches ever before departs.
